MR. BENNETT LASHES GOVERNMENT ON U.S. POLICY

FIR LUMBER MEN APPEAL FOR ACTION

Ask Government to Check Export of Logs to United States, Fearing Exhaustion of Supply

IS SEQUEL TO RECENT DECISION

Ministers Promise to Implement Pre-election Undertakings, Pledging Manufacture in Canada

ALARMED at the situation with respect to the fir lumber business on the Coast, a delegation of lumbermen, representing various aspects of the trade, waited upon the Government of the Province yesterday. They suggested that something should be done that would bring about the fullest benefits to this province possible from the cutting and manufacturing of fir timber.

The recent decision of Chief Justice Morrison, which would nullify the existing means by which a large part of the export trade in fir logs to the United States is prevented, was viewed with alarm by the timber men interested in seeing the fullest benefits accrue to the province from the manufacture of the timber here.

CHECK ON EXPORTS

The Government was asked to give consideration to means to be adopted to prevent the increased shipments of fir logs to the United States, should the decision of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court be upheld.

The assurance was given the delegation that the Government was alive to the situation, and was taking steps towards meeting the situation which presented itself. The Premier gave the assurance that

Youth Is Shot By U.S. Patrol Near Detroit

DETROIT, June 11.—Archibald Eugester, twenty-one, was probably fatally wounded early today by a bullet said to have been fired by John Cox, a customs border patrol inspector, who was guarding a rum runner's motor boat on the River Rouge.

According to two of the wounded youth's companions, Raymond Malicki, twenty-one, and Joseph Lakaks, twenty, they were on their way to fish in the Detroit River when they were attracted to shots. The youths left their motor boat and went to investigate. Malicki said he was walking behind Eugester when the youth was shot, and saw a man wearing a customs officer's cap appear from behind a bush.

Police are holding Eugester's two companions.

Grandson of Late "Lord William Richardson" Ace Safe Cracker

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 11.—John H. Richards, alias Jacob Prenger, self-styled "world's champion safe cracker," rested secure from temptation in the city jail today after telling police what a bad man he was—and is.

"I came to Los Angeles broke. I am forty-three years of age and want to go straight. If I roamed around Hollywood I know it would only be a matter of hours until I cracked a safe or let someone over the head. There won't a safe in your town that I can't crack," declared Richards. Then he told the officers some of his exploits.

"I am wanted in Baltimore for jumping a $2,000 bail as the result of an alimony charge. I'm also wanted in Philadelphia for the same reason, and for cashing a $400 cheque of that United Labor Agency at Newburgh, N.Y., which had been entrusted to me for delivery," Richards told the police.

He said he had served terms in English and African prisons. His English term, he said, was the result of a jewelry store robbery, in which he obtained $375,000 worth of gems. Then to round out the picture Richards told the police of his experience as a "beer baron" in Chicago.

He claims to be a grandson of the late Lord William Richardson, of South Wales.

Yorkshire Post Pictures Peripatetic Premier and Downing Street on Wheels

LONDON, June 11.—The first rumblings of Conservative criticism of the general intentions of the new Government were forthcoming today from The Yorkshire Post, perhaps the most powerful journal of the Provincial Press. It comes from a Tory and one which, incidentally, stands apart from any newspaper trust.

Head of Legislative Committee of C.M.A.

MR. W. S. MORDEN

Of Toronto, was chosen chairman of the legislative committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the convention in Halifax.

"A peripatetic Prime Minister, conducting the affairs of the Kingdom now from Washington, now from Geneva, and presumably presumably, from Moscow, will not be the least of the novel spectacles offered by Mr. MacDonald to the admiring gaze of his adherents," says The Yorkshire Post. It dubs presidential speech as "Downing Street on wheels."

On the whole, though, Premier MacDonald continues to receive expressions of good will from his opponents.

Meanwhile there are signs in the Conservative camp that speculation is afoot concerning the future of the high command of that party. In a Monday paper of the Rothermere group in which Lord Rothermere has often expressed his direct personal opinion, there appeared an article concerning the future of the Conservative party, in which the following passage occurs:

"It would have been far better for Great Britain if a man of Lord Beaverbrook's energy and vision could have followed the ascent to the Premiership on which he started Mr. Baldwin in 1917. Some people in fact think it would not be too late for him to begin now."

The Rothermere papers, however, push no further the suggestion of conferring the leadership on the Canadian-born newspaper magnate.

But it has caused mild amazement if only because of the spectacle of one newspaper magnate nominating his deadly rival as a political leader.

LABOR PREMIER ABOUT CERTAIN TO VISIT U.S.

Rumored Trip Will Be Made as Soon as Parliament Rises at the End of Next Month

STATEMENT ON REPORT REFUSED

LONDON, June 11.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald will pay his contemplated visit to the United States as soon as Parliament has risen at the end of July unless an adverse reason should suddenly intervene. It was generally held in authoritative quarters tonight.

Departure at this time would leave the Premier free for his projected visit in September to the League of Nations Assembly meeting at Geneva.

"I cannot make a statement of any kind tonight," Mr. MacDonald declared as he was leaving Downing street tonight. Tabloid, for a rest at his Scottish home in Lossiemouth.

The Premier explained that he was going to Lossiemouth in search of rest, and he expected to return again on June 21 before the opening of Parliament on June 28.

PREMIER IN DARK

OTTAWA, June 11.—Premier King in the House of Commons this afternoon said he had no official knowledge of a report that he might be asked to attend a possible disarmament conference at Washington or elsewhere.

The question was brought up in the House yesterday forenoon during the absence of the Prime Minister by E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, who inquired in respect to the report which had been published under a London, Eng., dateline.

"I may say my information is contained in the report my honorable friend has seen in the newspapers," Premier King stated in denying official knowledge of the article.

PARK AROUND NOTED FALLS IS FORECAST

Minister Returns From Negotiations With Timber Operators in Campbell River Area

ABOUT 50 ACRES IS CONTEMPLATED

Would Secure for All Time Access to Elk Falls and Preserve Surrounding Timber

THE generous disposition shown by the firm of Bloedel, Stewart & Welch may result in the creation at Elk Falls, on the Campbell River, of a provincial park which will stand for all time as a sample of the virgin forest that all over Vancouver Island Hon. P. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, returned last evening from a trip made to the spot and said that the firm expressed its readiness to co-operate to the fullest extent in any effort which the Government might make to create a park there. He said that Mr. Sidney Smith, the manager of the firm of Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, manifested a deep interest in the move.

The reserve for the park, if carried out, would embrace about forty-five or fifty acres of virgin forest about the falls, which would place a very attractive spot within easy reach of travellers on Vancouver Island.

When asked what the chances were of the forest remaining, with the cutting of the timber around it, Mr. Burden said that his examination led him to believe that it would not be in much danger. The area was on a lower branch, and would not be exposed to great danger from winds.

While Mr. Burden did not go to Campbell River to investigate the waterpower situation, he has decided on his visit to make a rather full inspection so as to be better informed on the matter. He also spent a number of other matters connected with the lumbering situation there.

OCEAN FLYER MAKES THREE FALSE STARTS

Seaplane Sverige Forced Back to Iceland First, by Too Much Fuel, Then by Leak in Pipe

WEATHER REPORT NOT ENCOURAGING

LONDON, June 11.—An Exchange Telegraph message from Copenhagen tonight said the third return of the Swedish aviators to Reykjavik was due to the presence of a leak in they had Town 100 miles. Another attempt was expected to be made tomorrow

Captain Ahrenberg in his seaplane the Sverige, returned here at 2 35 a.m. (5 35 a.m. Eastern standard time), after taking off at 6 35 p.m. (12 35 a.m. Eastern standard time), for Ivigtut, Greenland, in continuance of his flight from Stockholm to New York.

It was the second time this morning that the pilot had gone into the air unsuccessfully and had to return, the heavy fuel load forcing them back shortly after 4 o'clock also.

Captain Ahrenberg's start this morning was made despite a warning from the meteorological station here that weather conditions in the vicinity of Greenland made his trip inadvisable.

Conversion of Mr. A. J. Cook British Communist Leader, Is Progressing Most Favorably

LONDON, June 11.—The Independent Labor party gained an interesting recruit today when A. J. Cook, leader of the British miners, announced that they had resumed his membership in the party from which he resigned three years ago. This is regarded as a further stage in Mr. Cook's conversion from the extreme left wing of the Labor movement, which began when he made himself unpopular among the Communists by extolling the efforts of the Prince of Wales on behalf of the unemployed miners.

While the Independent Labor party is the more advanced wing of the Labor political organization, it does not go the same lengths in radicalism as the Communists, with whom Cook has up to the present usually associated. He is secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain.

PULP PLANT FOR ISLAND IS PLANNED

International Contemplates 500-Ton Mill at Beaver Cove, Is Report From Vancouver

TWENTY MILLION OUTLAY INFOLVED

VANCOUVER, June 11.—The International Pulp and Paper Company will probably build a 500-ton paper mill at Beaver Cove, on the Northwest coast of Vancouver Island, it was stated tonight. The capital outlay of between fifteen and twenty million dollars would be required for the construction of the plant, development of power and purchase of timber, it was stated. A town of 4,000 people with a monthly payroll of a quarter of a million dollars would be involved.

A group of New York engineers, representing the International Pulp and Paper Company, is now at Beaver Cove making preliminary surveys.

It was stated that large stands of privately-owned timber had already been optioned, and that there is plenty of timber which will be available if required. The timber is both on Vancouver Island and the Mainland, and a sum in excess of $5,000,000 would be involved in its purchase.

Power would be developed by damming Nimpkish Lake at the outlet not far behind Beaver Cove. The power system and the mill would cost close to $10,000,000, it was stated.

To keep a 500-ton mill operating requires an annual cut of 150,000,000 feet of timber, which means inauguration of big logging operations, employing hundreds of men and a great deal of equipment.

Building of a town around the plant would lead to the expenditure of further millions.

While the contracts and agreements for this great undertaking have not yet been closed, it is stated on what appears to be reliable information that the International Pulp and Paper Company has decided definitely to go ahead and that the next few months will probably see the entire transaction closed.

CAPETOWN, S.A., June 11.—With the vexing issue of secession and the German-South African trade treaty the leading issues, the South African general election takes place tomorrow. COALITION AT REGINA IS PLANNED

REFORM OF CIVIL SERVICE IS FORCED

Minor Groups in Saskatchewan Demand Freedom in Federal Political Affairs

REGINA, Sask., June 11.—The possibility of a coalition government being formed in Saskatchewan, with the Conservatives, Progressives and Independents joining forces, and a statement by Premier Gardiner to the effect that he had called a conference of all Liberal members and defeated candidates for next Monday, were the salient features today of the political tangle in the province resulting from the elections of last Thursday. The present complex situation will be reviewed at the Liberal meeting, Premier Gardiner stated tonight, declining to make any further statement.

The formation of a coalition government was foreseen tonight in an official statement issued at the conclusion of the conference of members-elect of the Conservative party of the province. Announcement was also made that the ten members-elect constituting the Progressive and Independent groups had indicated their willingness to confer with the Conservatives on the following terms:

PLEDGE OUTLINED

1. A pledge for the reform of the civil service of the province.
2. Retention of the identity of each of the groups.
3. Freedom of the matter of Federal politics.

GROWERS OF HOPS DESIRE HOME MARKET

Deputation Seeks to Secure Purchase of British Columbia Product by Provincial Breweries

GOVERNMENT WILL CALL CONFERENCE

The Government will call a conference between the brewers and hopgrowers of British Columbia, to secure some assurance of support of the former undertaking to use provincially grown hops as far as possible.

The hop growers are facing difficulties in disposing of their product, on account of decline in quality, but owing to increasing competition with Central European countries facilitated by improved communication.

RUINOUS PRICES

Growers of the Fraser River, a deputation held the Government yesterday, have to face ruinous prices in competition with German, Czecho-Slovakian and other European hops.

The delegation came from the principal hop-growing section of the province, in the vicinity of Chilliwack and was accompanied by Major E. S. Barton, secretary of the Chilliwack Board of Trade. Mr. Hulbert, Jr., Messrs. Livesley and De Beck, representing the Sumas farmers.

AGREEMENT EXPIRES

The main part of the market for the hops lies in the district in dispute in the manufacture of beer in the province and elsewhere in Canada. Up to 1927 there was an agreement between the growers and the breweries respecting the use of the locally grown hops. This had now expired and hops imported from European countries where the cost of living of those engaged in the business is not on a par with that of the residents on the Pacific Coast or elsewhere in Canada.

The price however, at which these European hops can be bought is such that local growers cannot attempt to compete with them. The delegation presented the situation before the Government, asking if something could not be done to rectify the condition.

House Treated to Repartee When "Hush-Hush" and "Hash-Hash" Policies Are Contrasted

OTTAWA, June 11.—Declaring that the Opposition in the House of Commons was ready to remain in session as long as needed in order to deal with that "menace to our economic life," Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, today emphatically appealed to the concluding days of the present session of Parliament, with the vigorous speech on the new tariff bill, now before the United States Congress.

"There has been some talk of a Fall session," Mr. Bennett stated. "We who at times have declared that we are ready and willing and have been ready and willing since the very inception of this menace to our economic life, to remain here as long as may be necessary, in order that Canada might make it clear to the world that we are lovers of wood and drawers of water for no man, that we will develop our own resources, and that no one may with impunity strike a blow to the economic life of this country, aimed directly at our having access to markets of this great Republic, without our taking notice of that."

THE REAL ISSUE

The real issue that faced this country at this moment was dependency. The danger was that Canada might become dependent on another country for butter, fruit, meat and manufactured articles. Mr. Bennett seized the opportunity afforded by a motion to go into supply to discuss the tariff question.

The Opposition Leader proceeded to view results which he claimed had come from modifications of the United States tariff prior to the present one. Both the Fordney-Me-

His Excellency the Governor-General, who was also warmly welcomed, officially opened the hotel and the Royal York Tower, marked the occasion by a luncheon that was attended by about 1,000 guests, filling to capacity the great convention hall of the new hotel.

Beneath the great rotunda words of greeting were extended by Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which built the hotel; E. A. Hoare, manager of the Royal York, and Sam McBride, mayor of Toronto. The latter's greeting was extended on behalf of the people of the city. Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, Explains Objects of Paris University Movement

SETTLEMENT OF WAR DEBTS EMPHASIZED

"The desire to get the young people of the world together is the motive which lies behind the movement of which the Canadian Students' Home in Paris is one of the primary results," said Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, in an interview with The Colonist yesterday evening.

Mr. Roy, who only visited Victoria for a few hours, is immensely interested in the Students' Home project, and has been touring Canada with the purpose in view of asking the governments of each province to assist deserving young men of the Dominion to go to Paris to complete their studies.

Yesterday Mr. Roy lunched with Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Prime Minister of British Columbia, and explained the objects of the students' home, which was opening three years ago by the Prince of Wales. Although no definite answer was given to his proposals, the ideas involved were very well accepted, and Mr. Roy has no doubt as to the future attitude of this province in the matter.

The scheme, he explains, extends over the whole world, and has as its central object the "Cite Universitaire de Paris," whose aim is to congregate together the postgraduate students of the different nations and to induce them to live together with a broadened idea of each other's viewpoint.

Mr. Roy considers it a matter for Cumber tariff and the emergency tariff which preceded it had affected Canada adversely. Their general effect had been to cut down the exports of Canada's farm products to the United States by $100,000,000. This meant that the United States farmer was no longer subject to competition, was able to supply $100,000,000 worth more of farm produce to the people of the United States.

Since the Fordney-McCumber bill passed, Canada had by slow degrees been progressing towards the position which this country occupied prior to the approval of that measure.

ADVERSE BALANCE EVIDENT

But the adverse balance of trade was still very evident. Canada was buying from the United States goods to the value of approximately $900,000,000 per annum, and the Dominion was selling to the United States commodities worth approximately $500,000,000, and added Mr. Bennett, sales to the United States by Canada were made up largely of paper, lumber and mineral products. What had the Government done to meet the situation? he asked.

"What," asked Mr. Bennett, "was the attitude of the Government of Canada in 1923, after the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill had been enacted in the United States?"

Since the United States could make tariff reductions without waiting for action by Congress, the Canadian Government announced that it would make reductions in its tariff which is believed would be reasonably considered reciprocal. That, said Mr. Bennett, was an intimation to the President of the United States that Canada was willing to negotiate for a reciprocity system.

"But what came of it?" asked Mr. Bennett. "Nothing whatever."

Instead of the effect desired, the exact opposite occurred, he went on. The President of the United States had seen fit to increase by proclamation since 1923 the duty on Canadian goods.

ANOTHER INCREASE

Once again, this year, the United States has increased duties on Canadian products. Milk, cream and other items were sharply heightened.

"And yet," Mr. Bennett said, "we are urged by the leader of this Government, the Prime Minister himself, not to say anything which would be provocative."

Continuing, Mr. Bennett declared that the statement had been made that Canada was prosperous because we had a wide purchasing power, but, that purchasing power was due to our great crops and the depletion of our mineral and forest resources which were being shipped in a raw state into the United States to employ workmen in that country. What Canada had been doing was to sell her birthright in her forests, mines and minerals. Was that the kind of "prosperity" that Canada wanted, Mr. Bennett asked. Within a few weeks of the coming into effect of the Australian treaty the Government had to put on the dumping clause against Australian products being dumped into Canada. Shortly afterwards the Government, by order-in-council, had extended to New Zealand the preferences granted to Australia. Was it desirable that Canada should become a dependent country with respect to butter? asked Mr. Bennett.

"The real issue that faces this country at this moment is dependency!" Mr. Bennett asserted. The danger was that Canada might become dependent on another country for necessities of life.

PREMIER REPLIES

In reply to Mr. Bennett's statement that his policy was a "hush hush" policy, Premier King replied briefly:

"My honorable friend's policy is a 'hush hush' policy."

"And that," said Mr. Bennett, "is an indication of the carelessness for which the Prime Minister is famed."

Mr. Robb, in replying thought that some of the remarks of the Leader of the Opposition could be read with delianti by those in the United States who were trying to raise tariffs on milk and cream for the benefit of children of that country.

He had talked, Mr. Robb said, with a man in the cattle business, and the complaint of that Canadian cattle man was that American farmers had been coming to Canada and paying "too high for our cattle." If the American farmers wanted to milk our cows, Canada was ready to raise them.

One part of the speech of the Opposition Leader had been a statement of blue ruin, while the other part had referred to existing prosperity, although it was true that the Opposition Leader had declared that this prosperity was not the proper kind.

Canada was not trading with the United States alone, but with all parts of the world, Mr. Robb said. He quoted figures showing increases in Canada's balance of trade from 1922, when we had trades with fourteen countries, until last year, when we had trades with forty-three countries. Canada believed she could best improve her trade within the British Empire. In respect to the United States tariff increase, Canada would be taken care of as she had been in the past. The Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Robb said, was careful not to go into any details as to where our trade should rise.

The tariff discussion was interjected into the Commons on a motion to go into supply when the estimates are up for consideration.

At the conclusion of Mr. Robb's speech the debate terminated and the House went into supply.

every means possible to the Government would be justified to hold the manufacturing of the lumber within the province.

During the progress of the conference the situation was presented by the members, who said that fir was becoming rapidly less.

In the State of Washington the last great stand there was now being issued by the lifting of the reserve on the Olympic Peninsula. It was expected that within fifteen years this island would disappear.

EXHAUSTION IN GENERATION

The report of the committee that in British Columbia the fir would be issued in exhaustion in another thirty years. This was based on the estimate of something like forty billion feet in the province, which was being cut at present at the rate of about one billion and a half a year.

The delegation represented the log-buying mills of the Coast and the lumber manufacturers.

Mr. Aird Flavelle, president of Thurston Flavelle Ltd., of Port Moody, headed the delegation, which included also Mr. George H. Hackett, president of the Dominion Mills and of Robertson & Hackett, of Vancouver; Mr. P. T. Gadd, manager of the Cedar Cove Sash and Door Company, of Vancouver; Mr. G. H. great pride that Canada was the first to build a home in Paris. Her example has been followed by Argentina, Belgium and Japan, and both Great Britain and the United States are speaking of joining the movement before the year is out.

REPARATIONS SETTLEMENT

The settlement of the war indemnity in Europe recently was the greatest forward stride made in Europe since the signing of the Armistice, in Mr. King's opinion. He is confident that this will release a flood of prosperity in Europe, which will be assisted by arbitrations alike.

Industry, he says, will expand because both employers and workers will know exactly where they stand, and Germany, having at last known the exact extent of her reparation debts, will join in the general prosperous.

MEETS MINISTERS

At the Premier's luncheon to Mr. Snowden there were present also the members of the Government, Mayor Ashbridge, and the vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. R. W. Mapley.

During the day Mr. Roy held a conference with the members of the Government, this affording the opportunity for presenting the situation with regard to this province in its trade relations with France before the minister to that country. The latter was taken for a drive along the residential parts of the city as the guest of the Provincial Government.

In order to aid in the establishment of closer relations between this country and France, Mr. Roy is anxious to establish certain scholarships for French students in various universities of Canada, which will promote the creation of a closer bond.

He is also interested, as already stated, in the establishment in Paris of the headquarters for Canadian students who are in that city, and which will afford a general meeting place for them.

The Minister to France left last night for the Mainland again.

FIRE IN OIL FIELD COSTS $4,000,000

Santa Fe Springs Blaze in California Confined Mostly to Two Large Producing Wells

CHECK REVEALS NO LIVES LOST

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Roaring flames, which broke out in the centre of the Santa Fe Springs oil field, twelve miles south of here, today were unconfined in two flowing wells. Ten derricks had been razed. The wells are on the property of the Rio Grande Petroleum Company. Estimates of the damage averaged $4,000,000.

A force of 80 fire-fighters, volunteers and companies maintained by drilling corporations fought the blaze and checked its spread.

The flaming wells, Union No. 1 and McKeon No. 2, both on the McAdams lease, owned by Edward M. Adams and O. H. Rhode, had a combined flow of 4,000 barrels of oil and 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Officials of the Rio Grande Company said late today a check of employees revealed all were safe.

terms had been accepted by the Conservative members-elect and Premier Anderson, that Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Saskatoon, leader of the Conservative party, had been chosen by the meeting as leader of the respective groups acting co-operatively.

POSSIBLE CABINET

Unofficial cabinet makers were busy this evening and a possible slate to be selected by the Conservative leader includes: W. C. Buckle, Conservative member for Tisdale, as Minister of Agriculture; Howard McDonald, Saskatoon, Minister of Public Works; W. W. Smith, Swift Current, Provincial Treasurer; J. A. Merkley, Moose Jaw, Minister of Railways and Industries, and George Bennett, Wolseley, Minister of Telephones.

Dr. Munroe, Moosomin, is mentioned as Minister of Public Health with Rev. R. S. Leslie, Independent-Weyburn, Speaker of the House.

M. A. McPherson, K.C., member-elect for Regina, is also prominently talked of by the "cabinet makers" as Attorney-General. However, the political prophets may be far astray. The cabinet may include a large representation of the Independents, and possibly a Progressive or two. Whatever the make-up will be, there has been no intimation from Dr. Anderson to whom he will select if called upon to assume the office of Premier.

MOTOR TRIP OF 850 MILES MADE

United Church Ministers Return From Vancouver to Hazelton by Automobile

HAZELTON, B.C., June 11.—Rev. H. Wright, B.A., Presbyterian minister at Hazelton, and secretary of the Bulkley Valley Presbytery, returned by motor car from Vancouver, where he had been in attendance at the annual conference. Rev. A. A. Burnett, minister to the Indians at Kispiox, purchased a car in Vancouver, and as he was not an expert driver he prevailed upon Mr. Wright to drive the car home. The other with Mrs. Burnett, completed the entire distance, which is about 850 miles.

The journey was made by easy stages, as visits were made at some of the beauty spots and time was taken to renew acquaintances of former years. Sardis, Hope, Lytton, Ashcroft, 150-Mile House, Quesnel, Prince George, Vanderhoof, Fort Fraser, Beaver's Lake, Topley, Telkwa and Smithers were the chief points where brief visits were made. Pretty much everywhere was made so far as Prince George. After leaving Prince George travelling was very slow owing to the slippery condition of the roads, caused by recent heavy rains. From Smithers westward, travelling was much better. The new cutoff was a great improvement over last year.

"There were large gangs of men with shovels widening out the road and straightening many very sharp curves at different sections of this great northern inland scenic route.

"When once the roads are graveled there will not be the same danger to motorists which exists at the present time with every shower of rain.

United Church ministers are stationed at strategic points on roads and are rendering splendid service to community life. Spiritual and self-sacrificing work is done in isolated places over the widely-scattered areas of the North.

BLIND TRAINED IN B.C. BRANCH

National Institute Does Good Work in Province—Orchestra Needs Instruments

Home teacher of the blind in British Columbia, under the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and one who herself is now been a sufferer from the loss of eyesight, Miss R. McKellar, of Vancouver, is a visitor in the city for a few days, staying at Devonshire House. Her visit is in connection with her work.

Miss McKellar is a great enthusiast for the task of helping the lot of the blind easier to bear. The British Columbia branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind receives a grant from the Provincial Government of $17,500 annually, and this, with whatever donations it receives, constitutes its revenue. The branch does a most useful work in training the blind to carry on many duties in life without the necessity of pension. It also ameliorates their lot in other ways. An arrangement has been made with radio firms for sets to be secured by the blind at a discount, and by an understanding with the Federal Government, licences are given free to those who have lost their sight. Instruction is also in several cases, been able to find employment for the blind with the Canadian Pacific Railway and with the Vancouver General Hospital.

Miss McKellar was in Vancouver when the blind have started an orchestra with violin, flute, cornet, cello, saxophone, cornet and drums. This orchestra, however, stands in need of some instruments and she makes an appeal that such should be donated. They should be sent to Mrs. Woods, junior matrons and Royal Trust Building, Vancouver.

Mrs. Woods and Mrs. R. P. Rithet have arranged to give a garden party in honor of the blind of Victoria on the 10th August, when transportation and a guide will be secured for them.

TROPICAL FOODS BEST IN OUR SUMMER.

Because we have tropical weather in Summer we should eat tropical, alkali-forming foods. Most foods we eat are acid-forming and "Roasting" Alkali-forming, or non-acid-forming foods—fruits, vegetables, milk and Roman Meal—are the ideal foods for Summer. Roman Meal is the only alkaline grain food known, because it is a quarter alkaline flavin. Twenty years ago Robt. O. Jackson, M.D., was dying from acid poisoning. He invented alkaline Roman Meal, lived upon it, and in two years was well. At seventy he is still 100% physically perfect, able to walk five miles in forty-five minutes. Four years ago he was the 100% physical culture first prize from all comers. For twenty years Roman Meal has been his chief food, uncooked, with nuts and fruits after every one package, a delicious dish. Try a package from your grocer and convince yourself. OVER 120,000 SHRINERS AT BIG JUBILEE

Potentate Walter Luney, of Gizeh Temple, Tells of Pretentious Ceremonial Held in Los Angeles

PROCESSION LIKE LIVING RAINBOW

"The fifty-fifth annual session of the Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, held last week in Los Angeles, California, was the most elaborate and pretentious ceremonial ever conducted by the Shriners," Illustrious Potentate Walter Luney, of Gizeh Temple, stated yesterday, upon his return to Victoria from attending the notable gathering.

"Over 120,000 Shriners, representing 157 temples in North America, participated in the convention. The business part of the session required two and one-half days, and the balance of the time was taken up by entertainments," Mr. Luney said.

Mr. Luney said the Shrine jubilee started with a bang. Twenty-one bangs, as a matter of fact, roared from two guns of the Third Coast Artillery from Fort MacArthur, stationed for the occasion just outside the Los Angeles Coliseum. Raising of the colors then took place, a chorus of sirens screamed, and the annual Shrine conclave was officially opened.

DAZZLING UNIFORMS

Immediately thereafter a living rainbow walked through the streets of the city and streamed its colorful way into the bowl. This was the first Shrine Oriental parade of the uniformed delegation at the parley. Arrayed in Zouave uniforms and costumes of brilliant hue, the 6,000 marchers stirred to thunderous applause from the thousands of spectators who watched the moving pageant of color and music. In presenting the gorgeous spectacle and exhibition, which was more than a mile in length, and which took two and one-half hours to pass the reviewing stand, the Shrine organizations displayed fifty-two brass bands, seven Oriental bands, two mounted patrols, fourteen drum and bugle corps, forty-eight patrols and fourteen chanter groups.

While the red, yellow and green colors of the Shrine predominated throughout the spectacle, many of the uniformed groups displayed the richest purples, blues, gold, silver, orange and all the tints that lend brilliance to a costumed spectacle as designed by an artist of gorgeous pomp and ceremony.

Mr. Luney stated that other outstanding features of the convention were the colorful Hawaiian banquet, the million-dollar Shrine motion-picture electrical pageant, the Caravan to Catalina Island, the Shrine Circus Maximus and the Spanish barbecue.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

The business sessions of the Imperial Council were presided over by Mr. Frank C. Jones, of Houston, Texas, retiring Imperial Potentate. The new Imperial Potentate, Mr. Leo V. Youngworth, of Los Angeles, in addressing the council following his installation, said: "The Mystic Shrine numbers in its membership 600,000 of the finest citizens of North America, men who are loyal and devoted to the best interests of their respective countries. The order stands for good fellowship, for practical expression of real friendship, and for all those things which brighten, sweeten and enrich life.

"We are very happy in the service we are attempting to render the crippled children of North America. Our investment in this humanitarian endeavor is now approximately $8,000,000. With our gospel of sunshine and good cheer, coupled with an earnest desire to reclaim the broken, crippled bodies of the children of this continent, we face the future with confidence, and I am anticipating a happy year of service," the Imperial Potentate declared.

Mr. Luney said that a report presented to the Imperial Council showed that the ten Shrine hospitals and five mobile units have continued in active operation, and that the permission granted to extend their capacity by 20 per cent owing to the large waiting lists, had been availed of wherever possible. "This therefore gives us a total bed capacity of about 850 beds."

RESTORED TO NORMAL

"The number of children received as bed patients in our hospitals since the beginning has now reached 9,912, a large portion of them being entirely restored to normal conditions through the timely correction of their deformities, and many others so materially improved that they may look forward with confidence to the future with the hope of taking their places in the world as useful citizens."

Shrine hospitals are now in operation at Shreveport, Louisiana; Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota; San Francisco, California; Portland, Oregon; St. Louis, Missouri; Montreal, Canada; Springfield, Mass.; Chicago, Illinois; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Greenville, South Carolina, while mobile units are maintained at Honolulu, Spokane, Wash.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Winnipeg, Canada, and Lexington, Kentucky.

Mr. Charles A. Welch, of New Westminster, past Illustrious Potentate and Mr. Ralph Lepine, of Prince Rupert, accompanied Illustrious Potentate Walter Luney as representatives of Gizeh Temple to the Shrine Convention in Southern California.

In British Columbia Court of Appeal

Churchill vs. Plottel—Appellant had applied in the County Court of Vancouver for an order to compel respondent to give additional security for costs. The application was based on the grounds that it would be necessary for appellant to incur expense in bringing witnesses from outside the province. Respondent had sued appellant upon a judgment obtained in Manitoba. At the trial of that action appellant had called no evidence and relied solely upon the contention that the court had no jurisdiction to try the case. Judgment, given in favor of respondent, was upheld by the Court of Appeal in Manitoba. Appellant now alleged that the judgment in Manitoba had been obtained by fraud, and wished to obtain evidence to establish his contention. The county court judge had issued a commission to obtain that evidence from witnesses outside the province, but had refused to order additional security to be furnished by respondent. The Court of Appeal declined to interfere with the decision of the county court judge, expressing the view that in exercising his discretion he had not disregarded any principle and dismissed the appeal.

Mr. F. Donnenworth for appellant, Mr. W. C. Thompson for respondent.

In the Estate of Mary Grant, deceased: Morrison vs. Grant—Deceased had died intestate, and respondent, who was her husband, had been appointed administrator of her estate. Section 114 of the Administration Act provides that, if an intestate dies leaving a husband but no issue, and where the net value of the estate exceeds $20,000, the husband shall be entitled to $20,000, and of the residue of the estate one-half shall go to the husband and one-half to those who would take the estate if there were no husband. Section 116 provides that, if an intestate dies leaving no husband or issue, or father or mother, his estate shall go to his brothers and sisters in equal shares, and if any brother or sister is dead the children of the deceased brother or sister shall take the share their parent would have taken if living, and there is a proviso that where the only persons entitled are children of deceased brothers and sisters, they shall take per capita. In this case, the persons who were entitled to the estate were the husband and eight nephews and nieces of the deceased. Upon an application in the Supreme Court for directions as to the disposal of the estate amongst persons other than the husband, it was decided that the assets should be distributed among such persons per capita. Appellant, who was one of the nephews of the deceased, appealed, and on his behalf it was argued that the nephews and nieces were not the only persons entitled, as the husband participated in the estate, therefore the portion of the estate for distribution amongst the nephews and nieces should be divided per stirpes.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

Mr. A. DeB. McPhillips for appellant, Mr. W. H. M. Haldane for respondent.

Barlow vs. Merchants Casualty Insurance Company—Appellant had obtained a judgment awarding damages and costs in an action arising out of a motor car accident. The defendant, in that action, had been insured with the respondent company. An execution under the judgment was returned unsatisfied. Appellant thereupon sued respondent for the amount, basing his action upon the provisions of Section 24 of the Insurance Act. The defendant, in the first action had accepted a sum of money in full satisfaction of her claim against the respondent and released the respondent from any further liability arising out of the accident. Subsequent to that release appellant brought an action against the defendant, in which he obtained the judgment which was unsatisfied. Appellant contended that even though the insured had given the insurance company a release, a party claiming against the insured could, under Section 24 of the Insurance Act, recover from the insurance company the amount of damages suffered by him. The trial judge decided that, if the defendant in the first action paid the amount of damages and then brought an action against respondent, which had already paid her an amount in full satisfaction and obtained a release, such release would have debarred her from the right to recover, and the release debars the appellant.

The Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal (Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting).

Mr. F. A. McDiarmid for appellant, Mr. A. Bull for respondent.

Presbyterian College Will Have New Head

OTTAWA, June 11.—Affairs of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, occupied practically all of yesterday afternoon's sederunt of the fifty-fifth General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The assembly accepted the resignation of Rev. Principal D. J. Fraser, D.D., of the college, and appointed Rev. Professor F. Scott Mackenzie, M.A., Ph.D., in his stead. It also filled the vacancy of church history and homiletics by the appointment of Rev. A. Scott Pearen, of Glasgow, Scotland.

Murray McLaren, M.P., of Saint John, N.B., convener of the committee on church architecture, presented the report of that committee. He pleaded for care in selecting names for new churches, and, if possible, retention of names of the old Scottish kirks.

During the discussion of this report it was stated that a new model church is to be erected at Banff, Alta., "to demonstrate to tourists and others that the Presbyterian Church in Canada is a going concern," as one member declared.

$1,308 DAMAGES ASKED IN SUIT

Mrs. Irene Harris Launches Action Against W. G. Chandler and N. Robinson in Supreme Court

Claiming $1,308.20 damages, Mrs. Irene Harris, wife of John L. Harris, of the Eagle Taxi Company, launched action in the Supreme Court here yesterday against Walter G. Chandler and Noel Robinson. Evidence for the plaintiff and defendants was entered before Mr. Justice F. B. Gregory, who is the trial judge, and the hearing will be resumed at 11 o'clock this morning.

The plaintiff contends that on March 11 the defendant Chandler wrongfully took possession of the plaintiff's Moon automobile, that Chandler permitted the defendant Robinson to drive the machine to Cobble Hill and during the trip on the Island Highway the car was damaged to such an extent that it is now of no value and that the car has not been returned to plaintiff. The plaintiff further claims that the car was wrecked by reason of alleged negligence of defendants, and is suing for $1,308.20 damages.

The defendants deny the car had been damaged through any negligence on their part, or that they had wrongfully taken possession of the car. They state they were trying to sell the car for plaintiff, and having heard of a possible purchaser at Cobble Hill they took the machine Up-Island for the purpose of demonstrating it. The car was in sufficiently good condition to be driven to Cobble Hill except for a defect in the right rear tire, which, they claim, was not apparent and which could only be discovered, if at all, by removing the tire, and they were not aware of the defect in the tire, which would make it imprudent to drive the car to Cobble Hill.

Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., is counsel for the plaintiff, while Mr. Harold A. Beckwith represents the defendants.

TOURIST TRAFFIC OF CANADA GROWS

OTTAWA, June 11.—Tourist traffic brought $250,501,000 into Canada in 1928, according to an estimate published today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This is an advance of nearly $35,000,000 over the figure of $215,763,000 for 1927.

The increase is largely due to the heavier influx of motorists from the United States, the report shows. For 1928, the total expenditure in this category is placed at $167,384,000 as against $134,426,000 in 1927.

Expenditures by Canadian tourists in other countries were slightly decreased, according to the calculation, comparative figures being: 1928, $103,245,000; 1927, $103,782,000.

DEVELOPMENT OF ATHLETICS

There is one branch of prowess to which insufficient encouragement is given in this community and that is athletics. By this we mean field and track events. It is true that practically all the schools hold annual meets, but this is far from being enough. The schoolboy who shows promise on field or track may be the exception and not the rule, but that does not mean that after he leaves school there should not be, in the community where he lives, ample opportunity and encouragement for him to develop, and perhaps eventually represent his country. There is the example near at hand of Percy Williams, one of the most noted sprinters of all time, and what he has been able to do should be an inspiration to any city to do all that lies within its power to develop its athletes.

With the exception of school sports the athletic meets in this community are few and far between. The consequence is that there is a comparative poverty of talent, not perhaps because it does not exist, but because it is not developed. What is needed, to begin with, is a better organization that will cater to track and field athletics, hold regular competitions, provide cups and prizes worth while, and secure trainers for our youth so that they may be developed to hold their own in provincial, national and international competitions. In this respect Vancouver is far ahead of Victoria. Percy Williams' successes have given a great impetus to athletics in that city and there is no reason why the inspiration here should not be similarly great.

Some interest has been aroused in this community in the development of athletics of late. It is a movement deserving of every encouragement and it may be hoped that what is proposed now for betterment is only a beginning. Hand in hand with it should go the development of athletics, and possibly when that desirable consummation is reached our youth will indulge to a greater extent in more manly exercise than is now in vogue. A well equipped group with track and field is a first essential, and then a gradual building up of interest, with special stress laid on athletics in the public schools. The private schools can be relied upon to do their share. They have always been in the lead in this respect, and by that we mean in the number of students who engage in track and field events. Properly organized athletics for the development of youth, while at school and afterwards, would mean a definite advance in physical well being. We are doing by far too little in this respect at present and have done too little for many years past.

NATIONAL INTERESTS INVOLVED

In announcing in Parliament that the Government would not submit the agreement with Fisheries Treaty for ratification during the present session of Parliament, Mr. Mackenzie King said: "We intend, if honorable gentlemen opposite from British Columbia, after visiting their province between now and next session come to view the matter in a different light, as we believe they will, to reintroduce the resolution to approve this treaty early next session." In other words, the Prime Minister evidently believes that the opposition of the Federal members from this province is of a serious enough character to warrant the postponement of the treaty ratification.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader, in congratulating the Prime Minister on his decision, emphasized the fact that a satisfactory treaty is desired. He said, however, that there are acute divisions of opinion as to the desirability of this particular treaty, some of the terms of which have been found "undesirable" from a national standpoint. Mr. Bennett alluded to the fact that Mr. McQuarrie, of New Westminster, had been notified by the B.C. Fishermen's Association that it does not believe that the treaty should be ratified at the present time. His own opinion is that there are clauses contained in it which are inimical to the national interest, "and some of which, at least we are uncertain as to the jurisdiction of Parliament to enact or to become a party to, in view of the provisions of Section 132 of the British North America Act.

What must be borne in mind in every consideration affecting the Sockeye Salmon Fisheries Treaty is that national interests are involved. The pact proposes to put under international control from 90,000 to 100,000 square miles of Canadian territory. In a matter of this character there can be no question whatever that the precedent proposed is a most dangerous one. British Columbia's Conservative members are on solid ground in their opposition to the treaty and they have the support of Mr. Bennett and the Conservative Party of the Dominion.

NEW WESTERN WONDERS

Each year archaeological expeditions go into the West in search of the new wonders that seem always to be forthcoming from this section of the United States. During recent months Arizona has proved itself particularly valuable as a source of the things that delight the antiquarian. The American Museum of Natural History has, in one recent expedition there, been especially fortunate. One of the discoveries was that of an unusual example of rock erosion in Hagotha Labyrinth, where a large natural bridge is in process of formation. This, like many of the other wonders, was found and photographed by the Charles L. Bernheimer branch of the museum expedition. Other specimens of the work accomplished by erosion were discovered. One of them was a group of rock cones that had once been part of a mountain range, until the forces of wind erosion took effect. Monument Valley boasts this sort of relic. In fact, it takes its name from its large number of monument-like rocks, remnants of an ancient mountain range. One of the strangest rock forms closely resembles the king of a gigantic chess set.

Then there was also brought to light the "Beehive Cave," which contains a type of prehistoric dwelling and inscriptions carved into rock. The instruments used for the carving were stone hammers and chisels of the basketmaker period, which flourished some three thousand years ago. Even more exciting than this, from the standpoint of antiquity, however, was one discovery made—that of footprints of the dinosaur. A ledge of hard limestone, uncovered by the expedition in Neskin Nisadi Canyon, revealed the giant footprints made by a dinosaur about fifteen million years ago! The tracks are eighteen inches long and sixteen inches wide, while the stride covered seems to have been about forty-one inches. When the dinosaur went out to walk and made these tracks, so incredibly long ago, he took his promenade on a mud flat, in which his big feet sunk inches deep. These footprints dried, and a little later soft sand sifted in and covered the tracks. Then the mud gradually hardened into limestone, in which the Bernheimer expedition has now found written this thrilling bit of history.

The trade returns for the first four months of the present year show that Canada sold to the United States goods to the value of $157,384,000, a figure which compares favorably with the purchases of $136,316,000 during the same period five years ago. American products sold in this country during the first four months of 1929 were valued at $308,444,000, as compared with $172,691,000 in the same period five years ago. Thus the adverse trade balance within five years has been increased fivefold. It is likely to be increased further under the tariff revision now being discussed at Washington, and, meantime, Ottawa does nothing about the matter.

The French Cabinet has decided to allow the title of Marshal of France to drop into disuse, or, in other words, no such appointments will be made in peace time. Probably the object is to prevent peace-time generals from acquiring spurious fame. In the past, seven and a half centuries France has had 3,313 marshals. There are four surviving now—Joffre, Petain, Lyautey and Franchet d'Esperey. They will be the last, unless the practice is revived in the event of another great war.

Those who read of how the Government at Ottawa has decided not to favor increasing the annual indemnities to members of the House of Commons and the Senate need not marvel at such a gesture of moderation. It is more politic than economic.

THE "TALKIE" REVOLUTION

The triumph of an English film actor, Mr. Ronald Colman, seems to be the first result of the success of the "talkies," and others will clearly follow. If the "talkies" eventually displace their silent rivals in the popular favor—and it would seem almost certain that they must—the English-speaking (as distinct from the American-speaking) performer will come into his own in this country with a vengeance. Indeed, it would seem that in such country the change must operate as a powerful measure of "protection" for the native industry. The sort of audience which flocks to the average English cinema is not going to "listen" to French and German and Swedish films, unless the actors talk "plain English," and French and German and Spanish audiences will presumably also insist on understanding what the "talkies" are saying—The London Daily News and Westminster Gazette.

CROSS BEARERS

All crosses are not made of wood. Oh, not Invisible are many of them by
That on tired shoulders, strained to breaking, weigh
Most heavily.

And many a gallant soul, who will not bend
His back for pity's comment, goes his way
Bearing an unseen cross, whose burden grows
With each new day!

MASQUERADE

We dance with proud and smiling lips.
With frank, appealing eyes we lift our hands clinging.
We sing, and few will question if there slips
A sob into our singing.

And to and fro we pass, since life is stern,
Politely with masked faces.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

964 Byng Road
June 8

Dear R. B. D.—I am writing to you to ask if you will help to save the situation caused by my original letter to The Colonist on the amount of corn given to American sports news.

My letter apparently has created a feeling, which, if I had thought for one moment, it would have done, would have stopped me writing to The Colonist at all. I refer to the antipathy shown by native born Canadians against first generation settlers from Britain.

The greatest feeling capable of being inspired within me is love for British Imperialism and the Empire as a whole.

I realize that there are a few newcomers to this country who by their attitude and manner create this feeling among the native born against their brothers and cousins who happen to have been born in the Old Country.

I myself came come in contact with one or two of this type; in fact, I once spent the hour from 7.30 p.m. till 8 a.m. the next morning arguing with one and pointing out the tremendous amount of harm that he was doing to all other people coming to Canada from the Old Country.

To me, and to most settlers from the Old Country, it does not matter one iota whether a man was born in Canada, Australia, South Africa or the Old Country as long as he "plays the game." Any "white man" born within the British Empire is to me a relation and how can I "look down" on a relative, even if it is because he fails to "play the game?" I say "white man" because having spent a number of years in India, I cannot look on the native Indian as a brother, although he is a citizen of the British Empire. If only all people living in the Empire could adopt this attitude, how much happier would life be.

Personally I love Canada. I think that in twenty or thirty years time Canada will be the strongest and richest member of the Empire, and this does not exclude the Old Country.

As I said in my second letter to The Colonist, I have no complaint at all news given to that of Canada, but after that I should like to see a little more space given to news from the rest of the Empire instead of to that from across the border. I realize the difficulty that the Editor of The Colonist feels in that he is an content in he patient, but I still think that it will be the greatest day in the history of The Colonist when the Editor can allocate space of the United States and join the Associated Press of Canada, which I believe is about to be formed. I want to see Canada's news of her and not to follow in the footsteps of my great neighbor.

In spite of all my letters to The Colonist, I believe you are one of the world depends on the good relationship between the British Empire and the United States. I might add that to help this along I have married an American girl, who also by the way endorses all that I have written to The Colonist.

If a paper in the United States has as much prominence to Canadian news as The Colonist does to American news it would go into bankruptcy very soon through lack of circulation. That is what my wife says.

We have both traveled a lot and between us have seen nearly every country in the world, and the more we see the greater grows the love for our own Empire and country respectively and admiration for one another's.

So, R. B. D., if by an article in your delightful daily column you could help us to raise the feeling that we have been kindled by my letters, we both would be immensely gratified.

One word altered in an old ditties portrays my feelings exactly. I quote my trust in my God, my King and my Empire (Country for the more).

With apologies for troubling you, I am, yours sincerely.

W. O. COVENTRY.

Upon reading the above letter of Mr. Coventry we felt it would probably the most effective way to "explain the situation" would be to print the letter as written. It is said that "out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh." The correspondent has explained his position fully, frankly and ably, and his explanation should be satisfactory to all but the more unreasonable of his critics.

On behalf of The Colonist, may we be permitted to add a few words which should be effective in removing a considerable amount of misapprehension from the minds of our Coventry and from the minds of several other correspondents regarding the scope and the limits of our news service. Mr. Coventry says "but I still insist that it will be the greatest day in the history of The Colonist when they quit the Associated Press of the United States and join the Associated Press of Canada, which I believe is about to be formed."

There is at the present time, and has been for several years, a newsgathering and distributing organization called The Canadian Press. The Colonist does not get its news from the American Associated Press, but from the Canadian Press. The Canadian Press has its agents in every important news centre in Canada and in London, England. This organization, however, is not yet strong enough in resources to cover the entire news field of the world with and exchange the news it collects with several other news-gathering services, including Reuters and the American Associated Press.

That is the situation as far as The Colonist and every other newspaper in Canada are concerned. It is a more desirable and satisfactory situation than prevailed before The Canadian Press was organized, when all our newspapers were directly dependent upon the Associated Press, a foreign organization, but still a most competent and enterprising organization, for such news as they thought fit to print.

Even under the improved circumstances we cannot evade the consequences of environment. However much we and Mr. Coventry may deplore the consequences of this environment, we cannot escape it. The fact persists that the United States is one of the most important news centres in the world, that the majority of Canadians are more interested in the affairs of their immediate neighbors across the border than they are in the affairs of their remote neighbors in Europe, that more Canadians are playing baseball than are playing cricket, and are more interested in the results of baseball games than they are in the results of cricket matches. We are not completely destitute of hope that there may be a change for the better in the situation. The people of the United States have declared by an immense majority that the business dealings between Canadian Samaritan and American Jews have been altogether too initimate and are about to erect trade barriers against commerce so penetrated nor sealed. The effect of that policy should be two-fold. It should increase our determination to try more upon the development of our own trade resources and to improve our business relations with other parts of our own Empire

BOARDINGS

Sir,—I consider the idea of our ladies in the States of not buying goods advertised on the dashboard loardings now spoiling the countryside magic way—is a good one, indeed. During the last year hundreds of hideous boardings have been erected in Victoria. Our country is being disfigured with these disfigurements. If everyone objecting to these hideous eyesores were to write the people advertising, telling them they would not buy the goods they advertise, the nuisance-ities would soon disappear. I made a point of refraining from the advertised articles some years back.

RACING SWEEPSTAKES

Sir,—Now the historic Derby is over again for another year, and one has time to reflect on the huge sums wagered on the race, it is really astounding to think of the immense amount of money that was won through sweepstakes. According to press reports, $100,000,000 changed hands in this way all over the world. Now, why cannot we go in for a national sweepstake sweepstake on the various races, as other countries do. It is the finest and quickest method of raising money so far as the public goes. It cannot be called gambling any more than buying stocks or mining or oil shares can, and certainly no one would lose so much money. It is just a chance, and a slightly good one, too, for the Government, or for the city to raise a nice little sum occasionally to devote to charity such as the orphanage, the hospitals, the home for incurables, etc. This is a splendid method to raise the money by deducting 10 to 25 per cent of the total amount collected; or, if this is not satisfactory, to hold a sweepstake to the church, which seems to be the chief objectives of all moneys raised, and it is by far better than almost begging nickels and dimes on the street corners on a good many days in the year.

THE CATERPILLAR PEST

Sir,—Might I be permitted to comment on the valuable space to voice my sentiments re the caterpillar nuisance. At the moment time when our gardens should be at their best, our enjoyment is marred to a considerable valuable time time that is needed for weeding purposes, etc., to grapple with the pest, and using the finesses to kill these creatures are with the discouraging proposition of seeing the vacant lots and even boulevards have presented with swarms of caterpillars.

What are our city authorities and parks board doing for the increase of salary they voted themselves in regard to this proposition? The city seems to be the worst offender with the notorious weeds and caterpillar menace. Might I suggest that the authorities make an effort to eradicate this nuisance by following the method adopted in Montreal to rave the engine some few years ago.

The city authorities (and, if I remember correctly, the McGill students volunteered help) waked way with a wire rope, which was dragged around the beat of each tree and another higher up the tree. The bottom one was removed or some other mixture and somewhat trapped the caterpillars as they either crawled up or down the tree. The bottom one was removed every other day or so and burned and then renewed. We do not take long to exterminate them and we, as all the citizens of the old town—her lovely shade maples—are not spending thousands of dollars to bring the tourists to Victoria, "the evergreen city." Let it be evergreen by enforcing the by-laws and make it a penalty on all property owners to allow their trees to be festooned with these eyesores to the detriment of their neighbors and their gardens.

SYNDICATE FEATURES

Sir,—Your various letters and clippings from readers as to how you should run your paper are very interesting. If some think The Colonist is too American they should study The Vancouver Sun in that paper practically all its writers and artists are Yankees (or American, if you like). Living and working in the U.S.A.

Jots From History

DISRAELI, Earl of Beaconsfield, the great English statesman and author, is the only Jew ever to hold the office of Prime Minister of Britain. He was born in 1804, and after an indifferent schooling, studied law in a solicitor's office. At twenty-two he wrote "Vivian Gray," which made him the lion of the hour. He entered politics, and in spite of his Oriental manners and foppish clothes, he became one of the greatest statesmen of his time, ranking with Gladstone. At the height of his power, in 1876, he was created Earl of Beaconsfield. Disraeli died in 1881.

is eliteness, but that is no reason why I, as others, whether they respect them or not, should allow them to "take us by the hug," so to speak, and lead us to do this, think that, and only what they want us to do and giggle, scowl, laugh or cry over this or that because they and men like them dish out to us. Now they are thinking of carrying on the same tactics in regard to their tariff, not only as applied to Canada, but to the whole world, with the consequence that a crisis hard is rising for all the various parts of the earth.

We are paying big millions more from the United States than they do from us, and most of what they buy from us is in the raw state.

I doubt if there is one literary syndicate in the whole of Canada. I know there is not one art syndicate. All the syndicated stuff, pictures and articles, is what we are accustomed to take from the U.S.A. and pay them handsomely for it. The consequence is that we are letting this out in dollars and cents. The annual drain of Canadian money to the United States of Canada is a very, very, very, very large, as it appears in hundreds of papers throughout Canada year in year out. Will Canada's sec. at least have a percentage of Canadian syndicate comics, articles, etc., by Canadian artists and authors living and working in Canada, instead of as now, not a single representative?

The American sun will rise, but let us try to make more of Canada shine.

ASSESSMENT OF LAND

Sir,—I am glad to see that Judge Lampman has laid a fairly heavy hand on the matter of assessment system as arising out of the Manitoba Royal Commission. In reference to the Manitoba system is, perhaps, as far as Canadian politics would suggest, but I submit, Mr. Editor, that the assessment system of our province is considerably larger and needs more drastic handling than the Saanich investigation has indicated. Our provincial problem, once solved, would likely have a very salutary effect on Saanich, but the palliation of the Saanich urban and rural assessment will not cure our provincial ills of our provincial problem.

The source of trouble is not inherently in Saanich, but in in our Municipal Act and in certain private bills or charters, and especially in the official handling of these instruments. Our municipal assessors have been placed in uncomfortable, if not impossible positions. They have been keeping things going, realizing that as a class, they are doing as well as any other group of public servants could handle the same situation. It is ill-becoming our sec and board education that public business should be conducted in such a way that assessors should be compelled to take refuge in mental reservations and evade their official declarations. The Legislative authority behind the Municipal Act, and the over-riding control of it by municipal councils and commissions, is a dualism under which neither harmony nor municipal solvency can successfully flourish. This is not limited to Saanich. Other places are rapidly approaching acute financial crises as surely as Saanich is forcing assessors.

The cities and municipalities of British Columbia have demonstrated beyond doubt that they are not prepared to handle the work of assessing at all. The temptation to manipulate assessment rates for various purposes—perhaps all good—has been too great to be withstood. It has thrown assessors into the British Columbia into such ridiculous chaos that our sheep mostly look like wolves. Why should land be assessed according to value in one place and three or four times its value in another? The only place I know, I have seen in British Columbia to assess according to value is in the work which Mr. James Pattison and his staff are carrying on in this city. This is too big and technical a task for municipalities generally to undertake. For the purpose of standardizing this work, and making it conform to the legislation laid down, our assessing must be simply controlled by the Provincial Government, but it must be exclusively done by that central body. Only in this way can our Legislature remain supreme; a proper respect for law be developed an equal and standard assessment be given to all municipalities and bondholders. Investors and home buyers have their interests protected in the ownership of their properties.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of June 13, 1879:

Messrs. Muirhead & Mann have rebuilt their mill and door factory, recently destroyed by fire.

The farmers of Saanich have decided to hold their annual basket picnic at Sandy's Creek, South Saanich, on Dominion Day.

The British Catholic Church now in course of construction at Beaconsfield will be consecrated on Sunday, June 22, by Archbishop Seghers.

A deputation of farmers waited on the Premier on Tuesday to bring to his notice the deplorable condition of the roads throughout the Victoria district.

VETERAN OF WAR IS STRANGLED BY ELECTRIC WRINGER

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 11.—Frederick O. Wood, a war veteran and widower, was strangled to death at noon today when his necktie caught in the wringer on an electric washing machine.

His daughters on coming home for luncheon found their father's body and called William Beadle, 412 Fourth Street, a neighbor, who released the remains from the machine. Beadle called the police. It was found that the wringer had ground Wood's right ear off.

Evidently Mr. Wood, who was disabled in the war and who was unable to obtain steady employment, was doing the family washing when his necktie caught between the rolls of the wringer, and he was drawn forward and held in a grip that prevented him freeing himself. In his struggle he turned his head and his right ear came into contact with the revolving rollers, which ground it off.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

NORTH CHARMS ALL VISITORS

Mr. A. Bryan Williams, B.C. Game Commissioner, Tells Kiwanians of Northland's Attractions

GAME IS FOUND IN ABUNDANCE

"I regret that more of our people do not get into the north country. It is a wonderful place, and if you go there, I know that you will want to go again. The northern territory has a great magnetism, and there is no part of the province that I have a greater love for," said Mr. A. Bryan Williams, new game commissioner for British Columbia, in speaking yesterday at the Kiwanis Club gathering in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Mr. Williams stated that the province's northland had some wonderful people in it. It was a country where the old romance of pioneering was still very much alive. "None of those there are of the same type as the hardy pioneer, and both men and women still endure hardship with a heroism that is notable."

The speaker said that not only was there an abundance of game in the North, but the beauty of the country was an outstanding feature, and one which in itself would repay many times over the visitor who viewed the splendor of the scenery.

"One can almost continuously see moose and caribou in the northland. Once I saw twenty-five moose in an area of half a mile. The caribou are the finest in the world, and are increasing year by year. And the caribou will in future outnumber the moose in that portion of the country," Mr. Williams stated.

Mr. Williams delighted his audience with stories of his adventures and experiences in the North, and the interesting hunting expeditions he has had.

President J. Brooke Stephenson, in thanking Mr. Williams for his discourse, said, "I think all members of the Kiwanis Club will agree that the game of British Columbia is in very able hands."

Visitors at the meeting included Mr. William S. Day, vice-president of the Vancouver Kiwanis Club, Mr. Kenneth Duncan, and Mr. W. E. Christmas, both of Duncan.

Presentation of the T. O. Mackay Trophy to Kiwanian Victor Meston, winner of the recent interservice clubs' golf tourney, played at the Uplands Golf Course, was made by Mr. Ernest Eve, chairman of the club's sports committee. Rotarian T. O. Mackay, donor of the trophy, congratulated the victor, and said plans for further tournaments were being made.

Three new Kiwanians, Messrs. Arthur Dowell, H. K. Perry and John B. Trotter, were introduced by Dr. William Russell, and were heartily greeted.

Members of the club were urged to attend the Kiwanis function, which will be held next Friday night at Mr. William Luney's residence. Cards and dancing will be the programme, and the proceeds will be devoted to the Dr. Howard Miller memorial.

Seventeen Join Civil Servants' Group in City

The local branch of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada at its meeting on Monday evening was informed that seventeen new members had been enrolled this month. Eight public works architects had formed a group which was affiliated with the association.

Word was received from the agent of marine here that all lighthouses in charge of stations were supplied with medicine chests and renewals furnished upon requisition. It was brought to the attention of the association recently that the lighthkeeper at Race Rocks was required to attend to the radio beacon with no extra remuneration. Those present at the meeting learned that the matter was at present being investigated at Ottawa.

A resolution was passed to the effect that those "temporary employees" of the Public Works Department, who are really on the permanent staff, should be classed as "permanent employees." It was stated that out of the 500 men affected throughout the Dominion, many had been employed for periods up to fifteen years and were denied promotion or increases.

Resolutions to be brought before the national convention at Toronto in September were distributed to the various groups of the association, to be reported on at the next meeting, on July 8.

HOTEL PLAN OF COMPANY IS DEFINED

Mr. E. W. Beatty Explains Situation to Toronto Board of Trade Regarding C.P. Policy

NEW HOTEL IS GREAT ASSET

Company Pays $7,000 a Day Federal Taxes for Privilege of Competing With C.N.R.

TORONTO, June 11.—"I first must express to this president and members of the Board of Trade of the city of Toronto the thanks and appreciation of the directors of the company and myself for this evidence of their friendship and good will," said Mr. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on the occasion of the opening of the latest Canadian Pacific Railway hotel, the Royal York, which was formally opened today by His Excellency Lord Willingdon, Governor-General, at a luncheon given by the Board of Trade in honor of Mr. Beatty and the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

UPS AND DOWNS

"A railroad must of necessity, especially a large and active system, touch the interests and contribute to the prosperity and development of a great dozy community," said Mr. Beatty. "While the company which I have the honor to represent, is a considerable undertaking, the activities of which extend to many countries, and with operations very diversified in character, it can be truly said of it, that it is first and foremost a Canadian enterprise and that the source and secret of its success lies in its operations within this Dominion. Not always has it been so successful, and at one time in its existence following shortly upon the great achievement of its completion its fortunes were at least doubtful and its future uncertain.

PROBLEMS OF MANAGEMENT

"Happily those days are long since passed and the company has been able to surmount in a really remarkable way all the difficulties due to commercial depression, war and its serious aftermath, and the new and unique situation in which it found itself as the sole, large compeitor of a Government owned and financed system. I need not disguise from you, gentlemen, whose business interests are large and special, the vicissitudes of land corporations in Canada in the last thirty years have been very great, that the conditions which some of them have had to meet were often unusual and that at times acute. I remember in the year 1913, it was cheerfully promised for this country that overexpansion would take its inevitable toll, and that for a few years following we must expect very unfavorable conditions to exist with the inescapable consequences to industry and the prosperity of the country. The war intervened and all such prophecies were ordered, discarded as being made in anticipation of conditions which did not exist. During the war we had again to meet unusual and unprecedented conditions, where all thoughts of carrying on our operations in ordinary methods were put aside, and only one desire actuated the officers and men of the company, and that was its whole resources should be used to the best advantage in the interests of the allied cause and to meet the extraordinary commercial conditions which the period of hostilities created. These conditions were survived and even greater wisdom was found to be necessary when the war ended.

"There was then a period of artificial expansion and our operations were again carried under conditions which were not normal, to be followed by a somewhat sharp reaction, during which grave uncertainty and anxiety existed. I think I can say even in their presence, to the credit of directors of the company and their officers that their confidence never waived even in those days, when exceptional prudence had to be coupled with business foresight and unusual courage. Once again the company emerged from an abnormal situation to meet a new and unique form of competition, perhaps I think, in this country, among all the countries of the world. I am not commenting any breach of confidence when I say to you that it was the opinion of many, usually well informed business men, over those most sympathetic to the system and method of administration which this company represents, that strong as it was, and as sagacious as had been its former administration, whose wisdom greatly contributed to the position of transportation and economic strength it held, no single enterprise could expect successfully to meet competition in transportation with the resources of its own country.

"They honestly felt that the odds were too uneven, that no privately owned company could meet an able and aggressive competitor backed by the whole resources of the great and powerful country. They felt, too, that the Government system possessed a sentimental advantage which, it difficult to estimate in dollars and cents, would be an important factor in the division of business. They considered that a sense of proprietorship, even though somewhat remote, would influence the business communities of Canada in the routing of their traffic, to the detriment of the private company, and they thought that the future of this company was at least filled with difficulties its promoters and administrators had never even contemplated, let alone had to face.

"Viewed in the light of present day conditions, this foreboding seems to have been without real cause and in their calculations these gentlemen overlooked two or three important considerations. They momentarily forgot that the company was very strong, administered by trained and efficient men, and advised by financiers of great experience and wisdom. They overlooked, too, that it was well equipped to make a very substantial contribution to Canadian development, to its commercial prosperity and to transportation efficiency, and they underestimated in particular, the sense of fairness possessed by the majority of the people of Canada, and the fact that if a corporation performed the public duties, enterprise and energy though they might be, with a singleness of purpose, honesty and effective, that corporation would meet with full public respect and thereby the support of shippers and travelers.

LARGEST TAXPAYER

"The Canadian Pacific is the largest taxpayer in Canada. It pays in Federal taxes over $7,000 a day for the privilege of engaging in competition with the Government of its own country. It does not begrudge the payment of this situation, but simply recognizes its existence and its inevitable consequences and endeavors to do its part in its ability to meet them. That the fears of 1913 were groundless and were based upon insufficient knowledge of this country and its resources, is evidenced by the fact that ten years after Government ownership was embarked upon in Canada, the revenues of the privately owned company were the greatest in its history. Its credit at its highest and its securities selling at extremely attractive prices.

HOTELS POLICY

"Now, it was but natural that in this gradual expansion and in the attempts to solidify the position of the company, it should give great heed, as conditions seemed to the supplying of those facilities only lacking to make a transcontinent most important as an inducement to travel. The company has always had hotels; it was forced to erect them in many parts of the country because it alone could do it, and upon it rested the initial responsibility of taking care of its own travelers. It was also to extend its hotel system into large centres because its directors felt that compatibility incorporated for the business of hotel operation would, in most instances, supply that need. In some cases this result did not take place because of the lack of the necessary and a reasonable prospect of important profits. Practically ever since the war it has been a personal ambition of mine to construct a hotel in the city of Toronto, but I had to wait for a favorable market justified the substantial expenditure involved until the site was made available. When these things happened I had no difficulty in persuading the members of the board as to the wisdom of the investment. The company has very great stake in the province of Ontario and in the city of Toronto. The traffic which originates in and is delivered to, both may be accurately described as enormous, and the 3,326 miles of rails we operate in this province form a very important part of our system. The number of employees in Ontario is approximately 21,450, and in the city of Toronto 3,440.

A FINE HOTEL

"This is a very large, expensive hotel, and handsomely decorated and furnished hotel. It will, we think, be a distinct asset and source of revenue to ourselves and to the city. It represents a larger expenditure than we have made for similar purposes in any other community, but it has been made designedly and advisedly because your need was great, and Toronto, because of the attractiveness of its beaches and its accessibility to centres of population in Eastern Canada and in the Eastern United States offers an opportunity for successful hotel operations possessed by few cities on this continent, when it is realized that within a very short radius of Toronto there is a population exceeding forty million people, you can appreciate the favorable character of the location of this city particularly in the matter of tourist traffic. You will realize as I do, that the tourist traffic from the United States is increasing year by year, and that with more prosperous conditions in Canada, our own people are prepared to spend more money in travel.

TRAVEL PROSPECTS

"Viewed from either standpoint, the extension of travel is good. It promotes national understanding and lessens provincialism and parochialism. It increases international understanding and therefore international good will. It is a great source of revenue to this province and this city because people who travel expect to spend, they expect to shop, and the money that they disburse is spare money accumulated for the purpose of investment in personal necessities or luxuries, and of the three hundred odd millions of dollars which are left in this country every year, a large proportion comes to this city and province. It is a trade which should be encouraged, and we propose, so far as Toronto is concerned, in our own interests and in yours, to see that the merits of this city and the advantages of this hotel are known throughout the whole of North America and abroad.

"Before resuming my seat, may I take advantage of this opportunity to express the appreciation of the company to the people of this city, to the members of your council and to the board of trade for the continuous support we have received in the carrying out of this undertaking from the moment of first announcement nothing but cordial good will towards this enterprise was expressed throughout this city. I realize, as you do, that your citizens viewed the conception and execution of this very considerable project as an indication of the confidence of the company in Toronto and its future, and that the natural pride which they felt in the city was enhanced by our action. I wish, too, to give public acknowledgment of the skill and efficiency of the contractors, Messrs Anglin, Norcom Ltd., the architects, Messrs. Ross & Macdonald and Messrs. Sproat & Ralph, to our chief engineer, Mr. Fairbairn; our engineer of buildings, Mr. Orrock, and to Miss Treloven, of my own staff, who had charge of the furnishings and decorations; to the officers of the hotel department, particularly Mr. Neale whom we have charged with the responsibility of conducting this hotel. They have all performed their part in the initial work with great ability without hesitating in any way the services of those who have been drafted for this special work. May I say to you that it is a matter of peculiar satisfaction to the company that the responsibility, in execution and in advice, for the attractive features of this hotel rested, in large measure, on members of the company's own personnel. It is not every company which is able to develop the ability among its own members which has been shown in the creation and execution of this project, and anyone who knows the company's considerable system and many of them are almost famous, none will be found to excel in design, workmanship and beauty, this last and greatest of our undertakings in that department of our service.

COYOTE PELTS TAKE PLACE AMONG FURS

Game Commissioner Explains Why Animal Has Been Removed From Bounty List

PREDATORY CATS KILL MUCH GAME

The exclusion from the bounty list of coyotes is defended by Mr. A. Bryan Williams, Game Commissioner of the Province, who was in the city yesterday. He says it was on his recommendation that the step was taken and he feels that the situation justifies this action.

The game commissioner points out that last year there was expended upon bounties on coyotes. This money, he feels, would be better spent in other ways which would work to the benefit of the game of the province.

Coyote pelts have been bringing as high as $26 of late. The animal, therefore, can be classified almost as a fur-bearing one, and furnishes the trapper with a chance to make some money during part of the Winter when other trapping is not possible.

ATTACK OTHER ANIMALS

Owing to this high price the number of coyotes in the Interior has been reduced to such an extent that there has been a corresponding increase in mice and ground squirrels which has had a most serious effect upon conditions in different parts of the country. These have been damaged in some parts by the ground pests to the extent that there has been a shortage of feed for cattle, sheep and deer.

Mr. Bryan Williams says that the loss to crops and shortage of feed for the animals has far more than counterbalanced the loss which treble the number of coyote would have caused.

It is pointed out that should the price of coyote pelts again drop to such a low figure that the animals were not worth trapping, and thinly populated as the Interior is, cattle, sheep and game, then it might be advisable to place the bounty back again.

PREDATORY CATS

Mr. Bryan Williams is asking the co-operation of the game clubs and industrial hunters in an attempt to lessen the menace to game birds from domestic cats, which have become wild, and which work far greater devastation upon the birds than anything else. This is especially true with regard to Vancouver Island.

Mr. Bryan Williams corrects a report that appeared in some papers that he was considering offering a bounty for coyotes and wolves in the effort that the same occasion of these animals should be presented in order to earn the bounty. This should have read the bounty ought to be paid.

Under the new bounty regulations it will be necessary for the person who killed the animal for which a bounty is sought to present the pelt.

Kumtuks Club Meets At Supper Gathering

The regular monthly business meeting of the Kumtuks Club presided by a supper, was held on Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A. Building, Miss McLaren, president, in the chair.

At the close of the supper, letters of thanks were read from Mesdames Women's Clubs, which had been invited to the guests of the local club during the May 24 celebrations. Before leaving the table a presentation of an artistic pottery bowl made from Victoria clay, was made to Miss Dorothye Alexander, who is leaving the city shortly to be married.

On reassembling in an adjoining room for business, the members passed a standing vote of sympathy to Ida Macrae, whose brother passed away very suddenly on Sunday.

The news that Miss Margaret Clay had agreed to fill the vacancy of first vice-president, caused by the marriage of Miss Kate McGraw was received with great pleasure.

The principal business of the evening was the consideration of the question of Canadian federation of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the by-laws drawn up for same, with suggested changes by each city concerned. At the conclusion of the discussion it was agreed that the Kumtuks Club send a delegate to Winnipeg to consult with the other delegates and that Miss Clay act as such delegate during her visit to that city, or, in the event of her not being able to be there at the time of the meeting, Miss Hodge might act in that capacity.

It was suggested also that a letter be written to Miss Josephine Daughtree, past president of the Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Club, accepting her kind offer to act as representative of the club, in addition to her own, at the American Conference of Business Women to be held at Mackinaw Island this Summer.

Two new members, Mrs C Pagetford and Miss Olive Aird were welcomed to the club and two more voted upon.

FISHERIES ACT AMENDMENT UP

OTTAWA, June 11.—An amendment to the Government measure which itself seeks to amend the Fisheries Act, was moved in the House of Commons yesterday by C H Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, and was accepted by Hon P J A Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. It provides that the minister may cancel fishing licenses at his discretion only after it has been ascertained by the report of a commissioner, appointed under the provisions of the Enquiries Act, that the operations conducted under such licenses are not in conformity with the law.

Previously no provision was made for fishermen to give evidence on their own behalf for any violation of the statute, and the discretion lay entirely with the minister.

DEATH BRUSHES MOTOR DRIVER

MR. N. THORNTON FELL IS DRAGGED FORTY FEET BY TRACTOR AT SIDNEY

Injuries Surprisingly Few in View of Circumstances—Car Is Mass of Wreckage

Dragged forty feet along the railway track after being struck by an automobile which he was driving crashed into the tail-end of a freight train city bound from Patricia Bay, Mr Norman Thornton Fell, of 821 Pool Bay Road, had a marvelous escape from death late Monday night. He is in the Resthaven Sanitarium recovering from his injuries, which, while bad, are surprisingly few considering the nature of the accident.

Mr Fell was driving to the city when the accident happened about midnight. At the C.N.R. crossing on the East Saanich Road his car crashed into the passing freight train also city bound. The automobile struck the train between the caboose and the last freight car and was dragged along the railway track for forty feet. The car was crunched between the railway crossing fence and the train, and was twisted and mangled into a shapeless mass of steel and woodwork.

How Mr. Fell escaped from this terrifying experience with his life is a miracle. When found by the trainmen he was covered with blood from a bad cut in his forehead that had caused his scalp to fall over his face.

Sergeant Robert Owens went to the scene of the accident after notifying Dr. B. Leake and Dr. P. J. Emerson. On examination it was found that Mr Fell had sustained a bad gash across his forehead, scratches and bruises about the body and a fracture of a small bone in the right arm.

He was taken to the Resthaven Sanitarium at Sidney, the nearest place for mental treatment. There he was reported to be resting comfortably last night. His condition is not serious.

Homes Valued at $12,000 Will Be Constructed Here

TWO more permits for homes valued at $12,000 were taken out at the City Hall yesterday. One permit was for an $8,000 home and another for a $3,800 home. This brings the total construction figure for this first eleven days of June up to $74,015. Building Inspector Barr announces that revival in the building trade now that the effect of the coal strike increase in the wages of nearly half of the labor in the construction trade has worn off as soon as the new scale of wages went into effect at the beginning of May there was a noticeable slackening off in the number of permits taken out. The public, however, has become accustomed to the new scale and is again entering into building activity, particularly in connection with homes, Mr. Barr believes.

Feast of Pentecost, Known in Hebrew as Shabouth, Commences Thursday Evening

The celebration of the Feast of Pentecost, known in Hebrew as Shabouth, the Feast of Weeks, will begin on Thursday evening June 13, 1929 according to the Bible, this festival is to be observed one day. Throughout Jewish history the Feast of Weeks has always been a dominant factor in Jewish life. It commemorates the event on Mount Sinai, where the children of Israel received the Ten Commandments—an event which caused the Jewish people to become a spiritual-living force throughout the generations. For this reason it has always been celebrated with great joy and gladness.

In ancient times, when the Jewish people lived in Palestine and were tillers of the soil, the Feast of Pentecost was celebrated as a harvest festival. In Palestine, the harvest season begins with the first month of Spring when the barley crop is reaped, and continues for seven weeks, thereafter with the reaping of the wheat harvest. Thus the last day of the harvest season became a day of great festivity. On that day the Jewish people made a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and offered the first fruits of the wheat harvest with thanks and praise to God.

With the change of environment and circumstances after the dispersion of the people, the agricultural background lost its meaning for the Jewish people. A new concept began to be emphasized and developed around the Festival of Weeks—a concept which gave it spiritual strength to survive to the present day and carry a signal message even in our present era.

According to the Bible, Exodus 19, the children of Israel received the Ten Commandments at Mount Sinai on the very day on which the Feast of Weeks is observed. Thus when the agricultural background for the observance of this festival was no more of vital significance, the Jewish people continued to celebrate it as a day which marks the anniversary of their birthday as a spiritual people endowed with a noble message to the world. Moses had freed the children of Israel from physical oppression and slavery, but this is not sufficient to make a people truly free. The spiritual bondage must be removed before a people can become a spiritual people. This Moses achieved when he gave the children of Israel the Ten Commandments. It is this message of spiritual freedom that the Feast of Weeks strives to convey to us today.

The confirmation service, which is one of the main features in the observance of this holiday, reemphasizes and enhances the idea of spiritual freedom. At this service the Jewish youth makes a public proclamation to continue in the paths of the principles which Moses gave to the children of Israel on Mount Sinai.

HOME of Major and Mrs. H. W. Niven, 564 Head Street, which has been lent for the garden party to be held this afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Navy League on behalf of the fund for the permanent building needed as a headquarters for the Sea Cadets. The site of this building has already been secured, on the old Indian reserve. Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, wife of the Premier, has consented to officiate at the formal opening of this afternoon's affair. A number of attractive features are planned by way of entertainment. The boys' orchestra will supply music, and under the direction of their commanding officer, Mr. Tribe, the Sea Cadets will put on a display including cutlass drill, sailors' hornpipe, recitations, "Laughing Bally" and step and clog dances. There will also be a Punch and Judy show, fortune telling, a occasional sky, a bran pie for the children, clock golf for older folk, and donkey rides. The cutlass drill will begin at 3:15.

Afternoon tea will be served, of course, and there will also be ice cream and candy.

The auxiliary organized last year at the home of Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie, has as its president, Mrs. D. R. T. Drake.

Marriage Is Solemnized at St. Mary's

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, when Ivy Muriel, second daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. J. D. Cobbett, 2236 Shakespeare Street, became the bride of Mr. Richard Tanner, 1021 Cook Street. Rev. H. E. Cropper officiated. The church was beautifully decorated with Summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her gown of white satin and lace, made in bouffant style, the conventional veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and carnations. She was preceded up the aisle by Mrs. Harry Price, matron of honor, and Miss Ruby Cobbett, sister of the bride, attired in peach and green taffeta respectively. They carried bouquets of roses and carnations. Little Miss Miriam Sutherland, only niece and godchild of the bride, made a dainty picture in her frilly frock of lilac and carried a basket of columbine and gypsophila.

The groom was supported by his uncle, Mr. Tom Turner, of Vancouver. Messrs. Richard Tanner and Douglas Cobbett acted as ushers. During the signing of the register, Mr. Douglas Parks sang "Because" and Mr. J. Pindler presided at the organ.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom received the good wishes of their many friends, standing beneath a bower of roses and ivy. They were assisted by the bride's mother, wearing a gown of cherry red Canton crepe and hat to match, and by Mrs. Tanner, in a gown of black georgette trimmed with sequins, and hat to match.

For traveling the bride wore a lavender georgette ensemble and green coat, trimmed with squirrel, and a lavender mohair hat.

The groom's gift to the bride was a bead bag, and to the groom the bride gave gold cuff links. The mother of honor received a gold brooch, and the maid of honor a gold bracelet. The gift to the best man was a silver cigarette lighter, and to the ushers, Eversharp pencils. Among the many handsome gifts was a mahogany clock from the staff of the printing department of the Provincial Parliament Buildings, where the bride has been employed.

Mr and Mrs. Tanner left to spend their honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, and on their return will make their home at Royalmalt. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. W. P. Sutherland and Miriam Sutherland, of Langley Prairie; Mr C. Travis, of Penticton; Miss Chapman and Mr. T. Tanner, Vancouver.

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER VIII

Martin Hews leaned forward across the table. His tiny fists were clenched until the knuckles were white. I have never seen so horrible an expression as that on the one distorted his face. He used words that made me glance in horror towards Beatrice Easter. She seemed dead. However. When he had finished he rubbed his lips with a thin cambric handkerchief. Then she lifted her head.

"I should let the girl go," she recommended.

For a moment I thought he would break out again. This time, however, he controlled himself.

"Would you?" he repeated drily. "On the contrary, I am not one of those who offer gifts to their enemies. You can have us, Beatrice. I have something to say to Major Owston."

She obeyed in unerucious silence. Her uncle waited until the door was closed.

"Do you know much about women, Owston?" he asked.

"Not a thing," I answered him.

"I rather gathered that," my employer agreed drily. "You would be surprised, then, if I told you that, with the very slightest encouragement, that little girl Rachel in the west wing would be in your arms, and after that you would know all you wanted to about Joseph."

I felt the color slowly mounting to my temples. My first impulse was towards blasphemy. I tried an old trick I used when I was in the regiment and noted for a violent temper. I counted ten before I spoke. Then I looked across at him.

"I am sorry, sir," I said. "But I wouldn't take on a job of that sort for the world."

"It's that or the open door," he snarled.

I rose to my feet.

"Sorry, sir. I regretted."

I could see the whole of his small frame quivering and I knew he was passionately angry. He opened the drawer and drew out two twenty-pound notes, which he passed over to me.

"You have earned that," he said. "Take it and go."

I had trouble at the booking office with my two twenty-pound notes, and I traveled to London with the understanding that I should pay for my ticket upon arrival. While I waited upon the platform at Liverpool Street for the inspector to bring me change for one of my notes, a respectable-looking middle-aged man in dark clothes raised his bowler hat and accosted me.

"Mr. Owston?" he inquired.

"My name," I acknowledged.

"I am to show you to your rooms, sir," he announced. "I have a taxi waiting. I found that they were rather scarce so I took the liberty of engaging one."

"You will excuse my riding with you, sir, please," he begged. "Passengers are not allowed outside."

"Number 3a Down Street, he directed the driver.

"Down Street?" I repeated as we drove off. "Quite a pleasant neighborhood."

"You have not yet visited the rooms, I think, sir?"

"I have not."

"You will find them small but quite comfortable," the man assured me. "I hope I shall give you satisfaction. My wife is a very good cook, and I am used both to valeting and waiting at table. My name is Smart."

"I have no doubt that we shall get on together excellently, Smart," I told him. "That is, if I stay."

"I hope that you will be staying the month at any rate, sir. Mr. Yardley has engaged me for your servant for the time being."

"Who is Mr. Yardley?" I inquired.

My companion coughed.

"I understand he is the solicitor acting for the gentleman who raised the money from the country," he replied hesitatingly.

After that I asked no more questions. We duly arrived at our destination, and I was ushered into a luxurious suite of bachelor rooms where I was not only ready for my occupation, but whisky and soda, cigarettes and cigars were upon the sideboard and a variety of letters and new articles for my use in the bathroom. Mrs. Smart—a pleasant-faced, somewhat diminutive woman—came almost at once to take my order for dinner.

I lay in my bath and out to a restaurant, Mrs. Smart," I demurred.

She shook her head in quiet protest.

"The message was, sir," she ventured, "that you would probably be dining alone. I have been cook in gentlemen's families for many years and always given satisfaction."

I gave my order without further comment, feeling that this woman was probably communicating with her husband, and that I had better not stir out. As soon as she had departed, I looked into my bedroom and found the drawers full of all manner of hosiery, ties, shirts and collars. There were two suits of clothes and a coat from a well-known tailor, with a note to say that his cutter would come around any time I I would communicate with them by telephone to see what alterations were necessary.

I helped myself to a whisky and soda, crossing to the window, looked over Piccadilly towards the Green Park. Every now and then I found it exceedingly hard to realise the sudden change in my position, after a year's desperate struggling. At no time, however, had the fantastic unreality of the thing appealed to me more than at this moment. Little more than a week ago I had been literally a beggar. The hard bed I had slept in before my excursion to Brereaty Mansion was in Rowton House. The sudden return to the almost forgotten luxuries of life almost took my breath away.

When I had changed to a dinner-jacket, Smart appeared with cocktails and I had enaconed myself comfortably in the easy chair when my complacency was suddenly disturbed. Smart threw open the door of the room.

"The young lady, sir," he announced.

I started at Rachel for a moment without comprehension. Then I understood the trick of which I had been the victim. A fit of fury seized me, none the less intense because of the morning laugh that parted her lips. She had undergone a transformation so complete that her appearance alone would have kept me tongue-tied. She was wearing a small turban-shaped black hat and a fashionable black afternoon dress of some soft and clinging material. "Truly I said to myself, this man Martin Hews was the devil incarnate.

"Shall I say another place, sir?" Smart inquired.

"No!" I shouted.

The man remained silent, but his air was one of respectful expostulation. I am convinced that he understood the whole situation.

"Do you know what you're here for?" I asked.

"I can guess," she answered.

"Your mission here," I went on, "is to vamp me in the cinema, and when you have shown my locks—"

"When I have what?" she interrupted.

"My fault," I apologised. "Put it this way. When we are sitting cycle-eyed, hand in hand, or probably with my arm around your waist, swerving to be true to one another for the rest of our lives, I am to bestow gently and tactfully to pump you about Joseph."

"I tell you this, Henry," she said, "if Joseph were to walk into the room at this moment, I'd forget my packing if I could, but there's no torture has ever been invented could make me tell you or Martin Hews or the cops how to lay your hands upon him. His day will come some time, and maybe I shan't wear mourning for him, but it won't be me who'll give him away. Why, Master—I mean Henry—don't you know that's the reason why Joseph's life have smashed Dunkin's, why they'll smash any other gang that comes up against them, and why the police can only get one or two at a time, like they did at Brereaty? They're tight-lipped, every one of them, two men have tried squealing, and they've been dead in twenty-four hours. That's where Joseph's clever. He'd swing himself before he give a pal away. So would every one of them. They're as wicked as you like; they're up to any dirty trick They'd stab you in the back as soon as look at you, but they'd stand torture, as I would, sooner than turn informer. If that fool Miles hadn't been shot the other night, Joseph would have seen that he got wind was coming to him all right, though he paid him a thousand pounds in hard cash for what he'd done. He knew very well that he'd do the double cross if he didn't."

"Well, this is all very interesting," I admitted. "Pity you didn't tell it to Martin Hews."

"Likely to, wasn't I?" she snuffed. "I should spend the evening down there minding Dan's two little girls, Henry?"

"Look here my child," I said "we'd better have an understanding, hadn't we? I like you; I think you're very attractive. I like you more and more every time I see you, but that's all there is to it. I'm in love with another girl."

She drew away with a laugh.

"You're all right," she declared "Give me my cigar."

I picked up the black silk wrap she has been wearing (there it around her shoulders, and rang the bell.

"Friends, please," I begged. She shook her head.

"I ain't sure," she answered as the door opened.

MARY PICKFORD TALKS ON SCREEN

World's Sweetheart Completes Conquests in All-Talking Film at Capitol

Mary Pickford's all-talking screen version of the Broadway stage success, "Coquette," which opened at the Capitol, will mark for her the unique experience of rounding out a cycle of silent-spoken roles which began on the stage and culminate now on the ultra-modern talking screen.

Miss Pickford's first appearance on the legitimate stage was a mute one. She was too young when she made her debut to manage any lines. But in a later stage production she was given lines to speak and became a full-fledged actress of the time. Her first appearance in films was also, necessarily, a silent one. She could talk, but the screen could not. It was the screen's own infancy that prescribed action without words. But now, thanks to the mechanical progress of modern pictures, she can express herself in the double dimensions of sight and sound, for she is talking on the screen in "Coquette."

AMUSEMENTS

Capitol—Mary Pickford in "Coquette."

Crescent—"Silks and Saddles."

Columbia—John Gilbert in "The Big Parade."

Dominion—"The Letter," featuring Jeanne Eagles.

Playhouse—Ralph Greaves in "Bachelor's Paradise."

DOMINION THEATRE The largest interior "set" ever constructed in an eastern motion picture studio was recently used at the Paramount Eastern studios, located in Astoria, Long Island, for the all-talking production, "The Letter," starring Jeanne Eagles. "The Letter" is the first feature length all-talking production by Paramount to be filmed in the East. It is a forerunner of an ambitious programme mapped out by Paramount executives. "The Letter" will be the featured attraction at the Dominion Theatre for the last times today.

PLAYHOUSE All the exterior scenes THEATRE for "Bachelor's Paradise," the Tiffany-Stahl production starring the petite, pretty and pert Sally O'Neil, now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, were made on a tremendous street set especially erected for the picture, which was directed by George Archainbaud from a story by Ralph Benton. This set represents Ninth Avenue, which might be a street in the tenement district of any large American city, from New York to San Francisco.

COLISEUM THEATRE Mary Nolan, one of newest and most beautiful blonde actresses in the Hollywood film company, spent much of her girlhood in an orphanage. Miss Nolan is playing an important role in "Silks and Saddles," a Universal picture, now showing at the Coliseum Theatre. Marion Nixon is cast in the starring role and Richard Walling plays opposite her. Robert F. Hill directed.

"King of Kings" Comes to Playhouse On Monday Next

In the great cast of "The King of Kings," which comes to the Playhouse Theatre on Monday next, are many notable stags and screen players. H. B. Warner is seen as Jesus, Rudolph Schildkraut as Caiaphas, the High Priest, Joseph Schildkraut as Judas, Ernest Torrence as Peter, Victor Varconi as Pilate, Jacqueline Logan as Mary Magdalene, Dorothy Cumming as Mary, the Mother, Julia Faye as Martha and Majel Coleman as Procula, wife of Pilate. Approximately 5,000 persons were employed in the various scenes.

Real Estate Boom of Today Is in Nanking

NANKING, China, June 11—There is a frenzied scramble for land in the Nationalist capital of China among wealthy property owners, most of them being Shanghai merchants, the like of which can only be described with the "boom" days in Florida.

About sixteen months ago the city was absolutely "dead." Before the revolution, Nanking was the home of the governor of Kiangsu Chekiang and Anhwei. Its people living on the wealthy officials, and its chief industry was making of tapestry. It enjoyed the exclusive right to furnish tapestry for Manchu court wear. With the downfall of the Imperial dynasty the city stagnated for more than fifteen years. Although a large quantity of tapestry was exported to Europe and America, that industry alone could not support the city's population of 300,000.

Almost every year since the outbreak of the 1911 revolution, some military leader has fought for control of the city, with the result that practically every family with means migrated to Shanghai or some other more peaceful community. Property owners tried desperately to dispose of their holdings and some were obliged to pay caretakers to look after them, when the ridiculously low prices offered were turned down.

With the completion of the anti-North expedition and the establishment of a stable government, however, office-seekers flocked to Nanking and it is estimated that there are more than 50,000 persons within that category filling the hotels and adding to the city's prosperity. House rents have risen enormously and it is reported in one instance for one small room a landlord wanted $30 per month in the morning, raised it to $40 in the afternoon and when some more persons came for rooms, finally rented it for $60 in the evening.

Corporations are being formed to build new Chinese theatres, motion picture houses, hotels and restaurants, and prices have gone skyhigh. No land, no matter how small, the lot may be is less than $10,000. Somehow that seems quite naturally to have come the minimum.

BUREAU RECEIVES MANY INQUIRIES

Visitors From B.C. Mainland and Washington Intend to Lengthen Vacations in Victoria

Judging by recent inquiries received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Victoria is rapidly assuming towards the Mainland and the State of Washington the same relative position as that enjoyed by the Isle of Man towards Lancashire.

It is evident that a very great number of people intend to spend from a month to six weeks' vacation in this city who in past years have confined themselves to flying visits of only a few days' duration.

Next week will be a busy one in Victoria, bringing, as it does, 2,000 Moose, 1,000 Masons and the Welsh team, besides the increasing influx of ordinary Summer visitors.

"I'm changing my views," said the mountaineer, as he fell over the precipice.

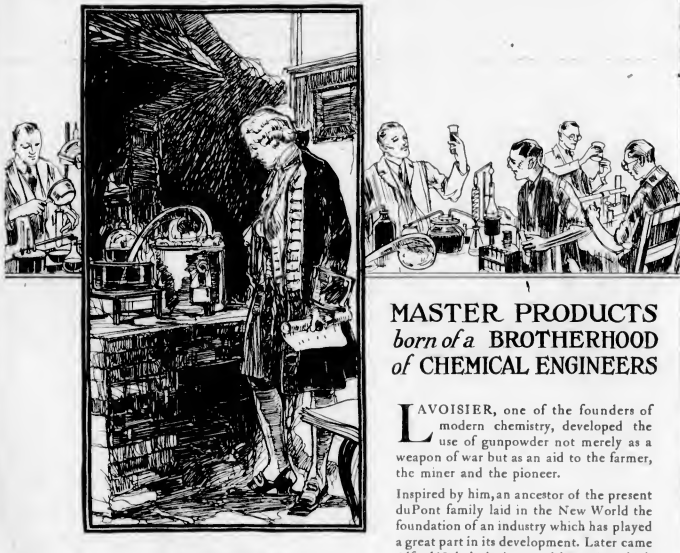
THE BROTHERHOOD OF SCIENCE



LAVOISIER

Antoine Laurent Lavoisier, born in Paris in 1742, perished on the guillotine in 1794.

MASTER PRODUCTS born of a BROTHERHOOD of CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

LAVOISIER, one of the founders of modern chemistry, developed the use of gunpowder not merely as a weapon of war but as an aid to the farmer, the miner and the pioneer.

Inspired by him, an ancestor of the present duPont family laid in the New World the foundation of an industry which has played a great part in its development. Later came Alfred Nobel who invented dynamite, which to-day is used widely in the mines, on the farms and for building railroads all over the world.

Without explosives, and particularly dynamite, much of the buried treasures of Canada would remain earth's secret. She would have few railroads while many of her fields now cultivated would be still barren wastes. Explosives have served to place Canada's resources within the reach of the world's markets.

Canadian Industries Limited exchange the benefits of their mutual research and discoveries with E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company, Inc., of the United States, and with Imperial Chemical Industries Limited, of Great Britain.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

FLOATING KIDNEYS

Floating kidneys were more often found during the period when corsets were fashionable, but they are by no means rare even today. Approximately seven times as many women as men are affected by floating kidneys, probably because a floating kidney is usually associated with rather abdominal prolapsus, a condition most frequently found in women because their muscles are usually less developed then those of the stronger sex.

Many people have floating kidneys without noticing any symptoms of distress, and the floating kidney is often discovered during the doctor's examination for other troubles. A patient who has been told that he has a floating kidney may worry a great deal about the condition, but there usually is little harm produced by the misplacement of either one of the kidneys.

In most textbooks of anatomy, the kidneys are described as being about even with the space between the twelfth thoracic and the third lumbar vertebrae, with the right kidney on a little lower than the left, just in front of the lowest rib. Having examined many thousands of cases, my experience has convinced me that the right kidney is naturally located two or three inches below the place assigned to it by anatomists. Out of the thousands of cases examined, I have found this to be the rule except with those who are abnormally fat, in which case both kidneys may be out of their normal positions.

Sometimes a kidney may descend so low as the hip bone, so that there is danger of a serious blocking or uring because of the twisting of the ureter which carries the urine to the bladder. This does not usually happen, but, if it should occur, a surgical operation is usually advised and the kidney is anchored into what is considered its proper position. The danger of having this kink of the ureter occur as a result of a prolapsed kidney is entirely unnecessary if the patient is willing to devote a moderate amount of time and energy in systematically developing the muscles of the abdomen.

If either kidney is found to be very low, the proper treatment is to go to bed for two or three weeks, keeping the hips slightly elevated and, while in this position, doing all of the different exercises which will develop the abdominal muscles. It is a good plan to use a milk diet during this time, using as much as six quarts daily. This will keep the intestines filled and will assist in the formation of fat around the kidneys which assists in holding them in their proper position. I would not advise a milk diet for this purpose unless the patient is also willing to take the abdominal muscle-building exercises. If the floating kidney patient is unable to take this rest in bed, some good results may be obtained by living on a well balanced diet and endeavoring to strengthen the abdominal muscles from exercising.

Although a wandering kidney can be benefited by any kind of a "stuffing diet" taken while lying in bed, this condition will not be permanently remedied unless the patient keeps his abdominal muscles strong by using exercises while lying on the back. When the fattening treatment, alone has been used, the patient will be in a weakened condition when he finally gets up, and the kidney will finally slip back into its prolapsed condition.

SPEARMINT TOOTH PASTE

10c 25c 50c TUBES

No other dentifrice so entirely deserves your preference. It is compounded with scientific accuracy. It cleans the teeth thoroughly without the destructive action of abrasives. It has the cooling, antiseptic spearmint flavor. Tests show 92 8/10% of people do.

Spearmint Tooth Paste is the most economical dentifrice. Pure alcohol takes the place of useless water in the formula—giving you a dentifrice an important stimulating and antiseptic character.

Spearmint Tooth Paste lasts four times as long as any other. One-quarter inch, laid across the brush, is sufficient for a thorough cleansing. Use Spearmint Tooth Paste and you will save three-fourths of the money you now spend for dentifrices.

RESULTS OF CONTEST FOR DESCRIPTION

Listeners-In to CFCT Were Invited by Forest Branch to Give Quotations of Best Forest Fire Stories

ALBERNI FIRE WINS SPECIAL PRIZE

Listeners were invited to write the Forest Branch giving quotations from authors of fiction, travel or history describing forest fires and their effects. Ten prizes of $5 each were offered for the first ten letters opened at random and containing verifiable quotations.

Results were very disappointing, as only four letters were received and only two of these complied with the conditions laid down. These were from F. Raymond Jones Victoria, quoting Zane Grey, and Miss Elena Jones, Victoria, quoting Bret Harte. Official cheques for $5 each will be forwarded to these two.

Mr R. D. Young of Metchosin, sent in a description of a forest fire in 1897, near Alberni, of which he had personal knowledge. This story is considered deserving of a prize although not in strict compliance with the terms of the contest.

Miss A. E. Cribble, of Victoria, sent in a clipping from one of the local daily papers giving a good notice of the recent disastrous fires in Manhalmo. From the fact that she indicated she was listening, she also is being rewarded.

RECORD ENTRY EXPECTED FOR COLONIST RACE

City Clay Court Tennis Championships Will Be Held From July to 6

Kingston St. Club Will Be Scene of Tournament Again

Large Entry Expected to Compete in Various Events—Marsh Gordon and Hope Leeming to Defend Singles Titles

After a lay-off of one year, the city clay court tennis championships will be renewed again. Information received here yesterday from Vancouver, stated the British Columbia Lawn Tennis Association had given the Kingston Street Tennis Club permission to stage these events during the week of July 1-6, at the Kingston Street courts.

It is practically certain that there will be a record entry in all events. All the local stars are expected to enter, in addition to several outsiders.

Marsh Gordon, who holds the singles championship, will defend his title while Hope Leeming will be on hand for the defence of her women's title.

Keen rivalry is expected in all championships. In the men's division, Marsh Gordon, Eric McCallum, Bud Hocking, Horace Good and Harry Leech, of Los Angeles, are expected to go a long way, while in the women's section, Hope and Marjorie Leeming, Mona Miller, Mary Campbell, B.C. champion, and Doreen Swayne (B.C. junior titleholder), are expected to stand out.

Victorians may have the opportunity of resting the New Zealand women's champion in action. Miss McFarlane is expected to arrive in the city shortly and intends to take part in the tournament.

The championship will consist of men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles.

The five courts of the Kingston Street club have never been in better shape, and officials in charge of the tournament are planning some added improvements before the championship goes away.

In the second round matches Eric Harley won from Coddingham, 7 and 6. De Monmorency won from Critchley 3 and 3. Robert Harris defeated Colin Alymer 5 and 4, and Bernard Drawbo eliminated P. C. Sykes 7 and 5. Parker Erdman lost to Andre Odbert, former French tennis champion, one up.

Roger Wethered, former champion, won his first match without great effort, defeating A. Hambro 3 and 2.

Golf Demands Bits of Temper Sometimes

By AL DEMARIE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Golf as a game of relaxation often reminds me of the golfer Gene Conley tells about who, when advised by his instructor to relax, replied: "All right, I'll relax if it breaks every bone in my body!"

Even the judicial mind of Judge J. M. Landis goes haywire in a good trap.

One day while playing with George Ade loud omnious sounds came from the trap in which the Judge was engulfed.

"Don't pay any attention to me, boys," he said after his display of profanity, probably. "I was just telling the game of golf the truth about itself."

John McGraw tells of a priest he was playing golf with one day.

"After dubbing three shots in a row," tells Mac, "my reverend friend calmly broke his club across his knee and said, 'Please don't misunderstand my actions. I'm not mad at losing my temper. I'm just quitting this game forever!'"

AGUA CALIENTE RACE TRACK TO BE BUILT SOON

Newly-Formed Jockey Club Plans Plant Costing $2,000,000 in Mexico—Construction to Be Rushed

WILL BE OPENED CHRISTMAS DAY

AGUA CALIENTE, Baja California, Mexico, June 11.—Actual construction of the $2,000,000 plant of the newly-formed Agua Caliente Jockey Club is now under way, Fernando Rodriguez, who secured the contract for building the first unit of fifteen concrete stables, each to house twenty-five thoroughbreds, has started grading for these buildings.

This unit will be at the south side of the course, almost directly opposite the middle of the back stretch.

Contractor Rodriguez, who is a brother of the Governor of Baja California, and is financially responsible for the building of a goodly percentage of Agua Caliente. He also built the Agua Caliente Racetrack Club plant, which is conceded to be the most beautiful and costly in the world.

TO RUSH WORK

Wirt O. Bowman, president of the company that is building the plans of this old world resort, has asked for bids for grading between 400,000 and 500,000 cubic yards on the location of the grandstand, clubhouse and track, and the moment bids are accepted the work will be rushed to completion.

This, of course, settles once and for all any faint remaining doubt that might have existed in racing circles that the Agua Caliente Jockey Club is an actuality and that the Christmas holidays, or any cycle dealer in the city

FIRMS CO-OPERATING

The practicability of the event may be seen from the firms co-operating and the fact that three police forces, provincial, city and Saanich, are assisting. The number of entries to date is far in excess of that of last year and promises to exceed sixty-two, which is the highest number ever to compete in the event.

Officials in charge of the race are more than pleased with the response made to the call for entries, but are anxious to secure eight more to make the field a few years ago. This means that the curtain will fall down tonight at 6 o'clock and those who fail to make time fall to file their entry will be definitely out of the running cycling classic. Entries may be filed with Mr. Alex. Stewart, at The Colonist business office, or any cycle dealer in the city.

MODERN STABLES

President Bowman also has announced that the stables, located within ten days for an additional unit of fifteen stables. The stables are the last word in the construction of thoroughbred racing horses. General Manager Jim Crofton and Architect McAllister recently journeyed East to inspect the Chicago and Atlantic Coast race tracks, they carried the last word in construction every possible improvement that will go to making their new race course the finest if not the largest in the land.

The "boy architect" has assured Bowman and Crofton that he will deliver a perfect jewel of a track and on past performances "the dopes" to win by open daylight, to use the vernacular of the stables.

McAllister is also to have the benefit of detailed information as to the line-up of horses on the race tracks of England, France and Germany, as Baron Long, who arrived abroad in time to see the running of the Derby at all Derbies at Epsom Downs, promised to rush a voluminous information, to the Agua Caliente architect as quickly as he could make an inspection of the tracks in those countries.

FIRMS CO-OPERATING

The practicability of the event may be seen from the firms co-operating and the fact that three police forces, provincial, city and Saanich, are assisting. Motor cycle officers, and others on foot, are on hand annually to aid in handling the thousands who witness the event and to keep the track clear for many miles.

An appeal to all pedestrians to keep clear of the course and to all dog owners along the course to keep their dogs chained up during the race was issued yesterday by the officials. It can be readily seen that a stray dog might easily be the cause of upsetting the race. It is known that the riders move along at a good pace. In the past this request has always been adhered to and those in charge feel confident that such will be the case again this year. Car owners are also asked to keep clear of the course.

Stockers is assisting again this year with a handsome trophy for the race for the purpose of picking up any riders who meet with mishap on the course. This valuable assistance has been given each year and is readily accepted by the officials in their efforts to give every help to the riders.

Two large trucks are being supplied by Scott & Peden, local grain merchants, and these will be placed on each side of Quadra Street, one for the judges and the other for the announcer and the prizes.

Every detail of the bike cycling classic will be announced through a "make." With loudspeakers being used to carry the voice of the announcer. According to the indefatigable, which is installing the heavy power amplifiers and handling the equipment for the race, every word will be heard distinctly at least a block away.

FIREMEN'S BAND

Color will be added to the event by the presence of the Victoria Fire Department Band. This first-class party of musicians will render selections at intervals between the times of 7:15 o'clock and 7:45 o'clock.

Programmes giving the list of riders, their numbers, the class in which they are riding, and the offices, will be distributed before the start of the race.

The major share of the details was completed yesterday, and with the entries closing at 6 o'clock tonight officials are anxious to hear more at home. All that is necessary now is for eight entries to come in today and set a new record for the number of riders to compete in The Colonist race. How about it, you riders who have not entered?

FOXX GOES OVER .400 MARK AGAIN

Athletic Slugger Makes Fine Gain —Paul Waner Also Fattens Average—Gehrig Slips

Frank O'Doul got one hit but lost ground, while Lou Gehrig slipped below the .300 mark by going hitless for the second successive day.

Babe Ruth kept Rogers Hornsby idle while Babe Ruth still is out of the line-up.

Equimalt Playing Fields Association Has Called Meeting to Set Facts Before Public

Discouraged by lack of enthusiasm in secure a playing field in Esquimalt another public meeting has been called by the Esquimalt Playing Fields Association to enlist support for the scheme. It will be held tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Parish Hall at 8 o'clock.

Great difficulty was experienced in finding a large piece of ground and which could be purchased on easy terms. In the end, at the request of the association, the Hudson's Bay Company kindly offered to exchange a very suitable block on Lyall Street for reverted lots in order that the association might be able to secure land at a low price.

The municipal council is now helping this land for the Playing Fields Association. The block has a frontage of 280 feet on Lyall Street, and its depth is approximately 300 feet on one side and 450 on the other. The price agreed upon is $1,335, on terms.

The association is desirous to secure this land for outdoor sports, and appeals for sympathetic support for the movement.

HAGEN HOPES TO ADD U.S. OPEN TO LIST

British Open Champion Will Try to Duplicate Bobby Jones' Feat This Year

SAYS MAMARONECK WILL BE BIG TEST

BY WALTER HAGEN
British Open Golf Champion
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

DETROIT, June 11—I am certain that the Ryder Cup tour has increased the general interest in the open championship to be contested this month on the Winged Foot Club course at Mamaroneck, New York. Another thrilling golf romance will be created and sure the sport will be greatly benefited.

The big events win new players, and that it seems to me is the greatest mission they have, a far greater one than finding champions, for champions change, but the game, like Tennyson's brook, goes on.

The open will attract a great deal of attention because of the spirited rivalry among so many well-known players—invited and uninvited. I will be there doing my best to win both of the "two big ones" in the same year as Bobby Jones did in 1926 at Sunnes in England and Columbus here. Every player in the field will be doing his level best to win. I have not seen the course in two years, but I know enough about it to realize it is going to be a grade "A" test. The visit of the American Ryder Cup team, of which I was captain, to England and Scotland and the appearance of certain members of the team in Italy, France, Germany and the Irish Free State, was a big undertaking. The way the entire tour was carried out has thrilled golfers everywhere.

Incidentally I have realized one of my ambitions, which was to take a team of representative American home-bred professional golfers to the countries of the Old World and to put them through a schedule which would do credit to them and to the United States. I feel that we accomplished that.

While it was very pleasant to win the British open and have Horton Smith win the French professional and Joe Turnesa win the big match play tournament at Leeds, I consider all this secondary to the interest aroused in golf, to the fine impression the players made everywhere, to the experience they obtained and to the friendships established.

As far as the English-speaking people are concerned, golf is the great international sport. It is likewise gaining ground in Continental Europe, especially in Germany. And it bids fair to become the outstanding feature in athletic competitions between nations.

ENGLISH CRICKET ELEVEN SELECTED

Team for First Test Match With South Africans Will Be Captained by J. C. White

LONDON, June 11—The team which will represent England in the first cricket test match which opens at Birmingham next Saturday, was announced today.

The team will be: J. C. White, P. G. H. Fender, R. E. Dulepsinji, W. Butcliffe, W. Hammond, M. W. Tate, H. Larwood, F. Hendren, A. P. Freeman, G. Duckworth, M. Leyland and E. T. Killick.

Three changes from the side which met Australia last Winter and retained the "ashes," symbolic of the international cricket championship, are to be noted. Jack Hobbs, veteran English professional cricketer, will be absent with a strained ligament in his right shoulder. He will be out of the game for a long time. The captaincy of the English team will be in the hands of J. C. White, who was in charge in the fifth test match in Australia, which England lost. The English team looks to be tremendously strong for South Africa, who have made only a mediocre showing in England so far. The South African team has not been announced yet.

PRESTON NORTH END FOOTBALLERS WIN AT TORONTO

TORONTO, June 11.—For the second time within a week followers of the soccer code in Toronto saw British footballers in action. Preston North End, of the English League, were the visitors tonight, and in a game replete with thrills defeated a representative National League eleven by four goals to one. Despite the fact that they are reaching the end of a gruelling series of games in the United States and Canada, Preston North End treated 5,000 spectators at Ulster Stadium to a sterling exhibition of team play and well deserved their victory.

Following the game the touring players entrained for Montreal, where they play again tomorrow evening.

STOCK MARKET AT NEW YORK IS STAGNANT

Trading on Exchange Drifts Along at Slowest Pace Experienced Since Last August

DAY'S TURNOVER 2,000,000 SHARES

NEW YORK, June 11.—The stock market appeared to have fallen into a period of stagnation today comparable to those which followed the breaks of March, 1926, and June, 1928. Trading drifted along at the slowest pace experienced on the Exchange since last August—the day's turnover exceeding two million shares by a narrow margin—and prices fluctuated uncertainly. Call money held at 8 per cent.

A few of the more volatile issues were rushed up easily in the thin market. Commercial Solvents jumped 12 points to another record price at 410. Warren Brothers climbed 11 points and Allied Chemical, Auburn Auto, Commonwealth Power and National Biscuit, 7 to 9.

Food shares were again stimulated by merger rumors, Fleischmann rising nearly 5 points to a new peak. Independent Steels were also in demand, reflecting report of increased operations. Crucible sold up about 5 points to a new peak, and Youngstown and Republic made fair gains. Motors displayed a better tone—Chrysler, Packard and General Motors moving up a point or two. Nash closed firm. National Distillers preferred mounted about 6 points to a new peak.

Burroughs Adding Machine dropped about 12 points to 305, but closed at 310. Sparks Withington dropped 8 points and Hershey Chocolate lost 4. Radio dropped a couple of points to 79 1-2, a new low for the current movement, but reduced its loss to a fraction before the close.

Foreign exchanges were dull but somewhat easier, Sterling falling to 4.84 13-16. German marks were also under pressure.

Better demand for numerous railroad issues bought for large investment accounts, steadied the bond market today. The turnover was substantially larger than yesterday's when a new low sales volume for the year was established.

WHEAT PRICES WEAK AT START

REACT AFTER OFFERINGS ABSORBED BY BUYING EXPORTERS

No Feature to Cash Wheat Demand—Coarse Grain Markets Quiet and Featureless

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, June 11. — Wheat opened weak again this morning with prices three-quarters of one cent under the close, but there was sufficient buying by exporters and seaboard houses to absorb offerings and prices reacted. Later, local shorts were covering, there being considerable buying by the sellers of yesterday, and the market was quite strong in the late trade. Outside business was not large. Local exporters reported sales to Europe overnight, while there was a rumor that the Pool had sold 300,000 bushels to China. There were further numerous showers in Western Canada, but in most cases they were light and the weather now appears to have cleared, as no precipitation was forecast for Western Canada. The weather during the past twenty-four hours has been decidedly cold with north winds, but the forecast promises higher temperatures. A few days of warm weather and there will be further complaints of lack of moisture, and some large, important areas received very little the past two days. There was no particular feature to the demand for cash wheat today. Offerings only moderate and spreads mostly unchanged to 1-2 better. The farm relief bill is expected to be passed this afternoon and quickly signed by the president, and this, it is expected, will bring in better support to the grain market. Advise purchases on the setbacks when they occur.

Coarse Grains — Markets were quiet and featureless. Prices reacted from declines of yesterday in sympathy with the upturn in wheat, but very little domestic or export business could be confirmed. Selling pressure was not in evidence.

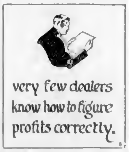
Earning—Saving—Investing



The results of a recent general questionnaire indicated that 735 dealers out of 1,000 picked at random could not figure net profit correctly.

* * *

Quite recently an adding machine company sent out the following simple problem in profit figuring: "An article costs a dealer $1, including freight. What must he sell it to bring him a profit of twelve per cent, allowing eighteen per cent for the cost of doing business?" Most of the answers gave $1.12, $1.30 and $1.32. All three of these are incorrect, the correct figure being $1.43.

The mistake arises because people try to figure everything from the original cost instead of from sales. Here is an explanation of why $1.43 is correct.

Selling price 100%
Cost of doing business 18%
Desired net profit 12%

Selling cost and profit 30%
Wholesale cost 70% or $1, 100%—1.43

Many retailers go into bankruptcy just through the error of figuring profits from wholesale costs instead of from the selling price as a basis for 100%. Our school arithmetic taught us wrongly almost without exception. Use the method shown above to get the important profit statistics correctly.

STOCK PRICES CHANGE LITTLE

ACTIVITY LIMITED IN YESTERDAY'S TRADING AT NEW YORK

Oil Shares Active as Group—Rails Rather Neglected—Steels Tend Up in Afternoon

NEW YORK, June 11.—Stocks for the most part followed an irregular course with price change small. Activity was again on the limited scale, many traders being disposed to await completion of the treasury finances and income tax payments. Prices in a number of instances were lower and such issues as Rio Grande Oil, Hayes Body and A. M. Byers appeared to be under special pressure. Fleischmann was an exception to the general list and was in good demand from the opening of the session.

It is stated that the Fleischmann Company has finally perfected a special food product and earnings from this source are expected to show material improvement over those of a year ago.

Oil shares as a group were active and such issues as General Asphalt, Atlantic Refining and Pan American "B" were higher.

Commonwealth Power in the utilities group was in good demand and advanced sharply, but the remaining utility stocks were quiet.

Rails were somewhat neglected while the coppers for the most part failed to respond to the recent reports indicating a resumption of European buying.

Radio continued under pressure in the early transactions, but recovered some of its loss in the late dealings.

The day's news was of a mixed nature and had little bearing on the action of the market one way or another. In the afternoon session steel shares exhibited an upward tendency. This was particularly true of some of the independents, such as Youngstown and Crucible Steel, while U.S. Steel showed a net gain of about two points from its early low. Interest in the latter shares was probably stimulated by a statement showing steel ingots production increased more than one per cent during the past week. Call money renewed at 8 per cent and remained at that level throughout the session.

In the late dealings while the general tone continued somewhat irregular, a number of individual issues were in good demand, such as Commercial Solvents and Rio Grande Oil, the latter recovering the greater part of its early losses. The market will in all likelihood continue in a trading area, pending some relaxation of the tension in the money quarter.

Whitney Letter

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says today: Another session of relative dullness and narrow average price, but with a tone directly opposite to that of the previous session, demonstrates little other than that the market is not a liquidation market. And liquidation cannot be induced by raiding tactics even when pressure is put upon entire groups rather than individual issues. So long as this is the case, there is nothing other to do than take advantage of such sessions as were witnessed Monday to buy stocks and then exercise a little patience until it becomes clear to those who will not believe it now that we are going to pass over the combined tax day and midmonth disbursement day with nothing worse than a 10 per cent call rate.

Oil stocks are not advancing radically simply because accumulation has not entirely ended. Continue to buy them for a major advance which will be under way before the period of general market irregularity has been brought to a close, and continue to concentrate on Atlantic Refining, Pan American, Standard Oil of New Jersey and General Asphalt.

In the food products group we would continue long on Fleischmann and Royal Baking, and for new buying, take Corn Products, Kraft Phoenix Cheese and National Distillers, in which latter the preferred has already established a new top with the common soon to follow.

In the utilities continue to purchase Cons. Gas, Electric Power & Light and Public Service of New Jersey and withhold profit taking in North American until the stock approaches 135.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, June 11.—The raw sugar market was unchanged today at 3.46 for spot, duty paid, and no sales reported.

Refined prices were unchanged and while withdrawals continued of fair proportions, new business was light and supplied through second hands. Prices listed at 5.00 for fine granulated.

GRANADA STOCK IS ATTRACTIVE

STRIKE OF HIGH-GRADE IS REPORTED AFTER PASSING FAULT

Ajax Continues Advance at Toronto—International Nickel Up Fifty Points—Noranda Off

(Stobie, Forlong & Co.)

TORONTO, June 11.—Granada is through the fault on the 525-foot level and has cut high-grade ore.

The possibilities of this property as the situation looks now are decidedly good and the stock is on the bargain counter at these levels.

Ajax continued its advance to gain 15 points over last night's close on bullish reports from the company's Ontario operations and an unofficial report that the company has some Turner Valley acreage under option besides its recently acquired holdings in the Cypress Hill district. Ajax expects to obtain in a short time its fourth producer in Ontario, near Chatham.

A low-priced stock led a dull mines market today when Granada Rouyn climbed six points before receding to 27 cents, a net gain of 3 cents. The activity is prompted by reports that Granada has cut through the fault into high grade ore at depth.

International Nickel was up 50 cents to $48, Sudbury Basin up 10 to $8.35, Sherritt-Gordon off 5 to $7.15, Noranda off 25 to $52.00. Premier up 5 to $1.60, Teck Hughes up 10 to $8.20.

Ventures, Mining Corporation, Falconbridge Nickel and Amulet were in the shade. Big Missouri had long trading to close at $1.30, down 6 points.

A.P. Consolidated lost 25 points to $3.80. Dalhousie 25 to $3.75; Home 75 to $20.75; C. & E. had early strength at $10, at which figure it closed unchanged.

Wall Street Journal

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Recent indications of a strong technical position in the general market have become more pronounced today. Attempts by bearish professionals to force fresh liquidation were followed by extreme dullness.

Transactions experienced further shrinkage to the lowest levels seen since last August. While individual issues yielded to pressure the action of the main body of stocks reflected growing confidence regarding the underlying soundness of the structure and outlook for prosperity in the major branches of trade.

In view of the indifference of the general list to bearish activities the conclusion was strengthened that necessitous liquidation had been cleaned up and standard stocks have fallen into good hands on last month's selling movement. Moreover, more important banking interests were reported to be quietly accumulating stocks on the theory that the reparations agreement would rehabilitate Europe industrially and create a vastly greater market for American products.

"Mummy," asked John, "how is it that little fishes don't get drowned before their mothers have taught them how to swim?"

Calgary Oil News

(Miller, Court & Co., Ltd.)

CALGARY, June 11.—The Ontario Development Company well, at Suffield, situated in Township 17, Range 8, West of the Fourth, is drilling at 2,400 feet; Kamorley well, on Stony Indian Reserve, at Morley, is rigging up and spudding in will take place within the next two weeks. At Illinois Alberta No. 2, slight repairs are being made to the drilling outfit. The diamond drill bit and a portion of the stem are still in the hole at 3,882 feet.

At Oakalta No. 3, preparations are being made to pull the six-inch string of casing before drilling deeper. At Oakalta No. 3, twelve and a half inch casing is being run. Oakalta No. 1 is doing over 400 barrels per day and increasing. The well is capable of doing over 500 barrels per day, but for a leak which allows gas to escape in the well. The eight-inch casing is parted and there is a hole in the ten-inch, making it possible for the gas to get out and under high pressure force its way into a porous stratum near the bottom of the twelve-inch casing at 2,600. As the gas is coming out under considerable pressure, it naturally penetrates the lower pressure sands. It is likely that Oakalta No. 1 will show some increase, but for some time to come the output may remain around the 400-barrel mark.

Structure No. 1 well, situated in the southern part of Turner Valley in a direct line between Oakalta No. 1 and Home No. 1 is practically rigged up and spudding in will take place on June 16. The cellar for Structure No. 2 on the McDougall Segur Exploration lease is being started today. The Elbow well, in the Moose Mountain field is drilling at 1,470 feet and apparently very close to the top of the Dakota formation.

Shareholders of Spooner Oils approved the policy of the administration of the affairs by selecting the entire directorate at the annual meeting of the company, held on Monday. Two new members, R. A. Brown, and Hal Morgan, were added to the directorate. The other members of the board who were re-elected are Arthur O. Spooner, George A. Barber, H. R. Spooner, Albert Muts, Robert Wilkinson and C. E. Snyder.

CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET EASY

COMMISSION HOUSE SELLING INDUCED BY WASHINGTON NEWS

Export Demand Fairly Good—Strength in Winnipeg Has Effect on Chicago Market

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, June 11.—The wheat market was easy on scattered commission house selling, induced by press messages from Washington, which indicated that the Senate might have trouble in mustering enough votes to pass the conference bill without the debenture plan, but good support developed on the break, and later prices advanced sharply when shorts attempted to get their wheat back and found offerings limited.

The outside figures showed an advance of 4 5-8c for September as compared with the early low.

Some showers fell over parts of the Canadian provinces, but were reported as too light to be of material benefit and forecast was for generally fair.

Export demand was fairly good with sales in all positions estimated at 500,000 bushels Manitobas. Included in this were 300,000 bushels to Shanghai, and they were reported as in the market for around 600,000 bushels more.

Harvest is on in Oklahoma and market will soon be under hedging pressure.

News and Comment on Business Supplied by R. P. Clark & Co. (Victoria), Limited

COMING EVENTS

Considering the extent of the recovery, it is altogether probable that a reaction of a secondary nature will be experienced in the near future. In anticipation of such a development we would take profits on any further strong spots and be prepared to accumulate attractive issues on moderate recessions. The market as a whole should pass through a two or three weeks period of accumulation to be followed by a major upward movement, carrying the averages to decidedly new high territory before the end of August. Auburn Automobile Company is expected to announce a new front wheel drive model to be ready for the market within the next month or two.

General Electric—There are important developments pending for General Electric stockholders, formal announcement of which is expected later in the year. In the meantime the stock continues to meet with the best kind of buying, and we think it will be one of the important leaders in the next phase of the bull market.

Anaconda—Insiders feel that the copper situation is well in hand and believe the next change in copper prices will be upward. Sponsors for the stock are not anxious to have the run-up in the near future, but they believe that around the end of this month or the early part of July, the situation will be such as to permit a broad and sustained forward movement, which might easily carry Anaconda thirty to forty points higher. Bethlehem Steel has worked into a strong market position, and just before the rights are out of the way, should resume its forward movement, and carry through into high territory. We would take advantage of any minor recessions to accumulate the stock. Air Reduction Company has shown marked resistance to selling pressure during all of the reaction.

STOCK OPINIONS

Prince & Whitely — We think there are many bargains in the list, but still think it advisable to put buying orders somewhat below present quotations.

Halle & Steiglitz—The outcome of the oil conference scheduled to begin today is anxiously awaited, and we cannot but feel that leaders in the oil industry will work out their problems co-operatively and constructively.

Josephthal & Co.—We feel the industrial outlook is uncertain enough to make for caution in purchasing or holding stocks which are sensitive to changes in general industrial activity.

WALL STREET MIRROR

The very best information regarding Fleischmann continues to be that it will be turned over to Postum at a minimum of $100 a share. The manner in which the stock was taken on Monday suggests that it may open up five or six points overnight one of these days.

U.S. Industrial Alcohol is headed for much higher prices. An aggressive buying movement has been started in the stock. The same sort of buying is seen in Air Reduction.

Indiana Refining issues, especially the certificates, are well bought. The voting trust still has a year to run. The latest word regarding the company's new refining process is that it is increasing the recovery of refined oils from the old 8 per cent to 15 per cent. The new process has panned out so well that it is now considered it will be leased to more than a few companies.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

With regard to the continued pressure on several of the motor issues, the idea dominating speculative sentiment seems to be that heavy production which continued at record breaking totals constitutes a threat to the industry for the second half of the year. It is argued that as a result of the output of passenger cars, manufacturers will soon have to revise schedules substantially downward in order to avoid unsold car congestion. It is to be noted that in yesterday's market, when such prominent motor issues as Chrysler, General Motors and Packard were extensively sold, Hudson gained ground on the day. This stock has not enjoyed the speculative interest which from time to time during recent months has attached to the other three and, from a technical market standpoint, is probably in a stronger market position than the others. In a market such as the present, we do not consider that it would be illogical for Hudson further to improve its position, notwithstanding irregularity in the motor group, and we continue to believe the stock is a reasonably priced speculation. Among the stocks which appear in good demand on recessions are Bethlehem Steel, American Smelting and Refining, and Union Carbide. Timken Roller Bearing is another issue giving an excellent account of itself, and we think it well worth purchasing. During the next few days the money market will be the chief determinant of trading sentiment. The opinion is deeply ingrained, and has been for some time, that mid-June will witness another period of near stringency in the call money market, and developments in this direction are likely to overtop all others for the present market interest. Inasmuch as the market seems to be preparing itself for tight money during the next week or so, the effect of such a development may not do more than slow down trading activities and emphasize the attitude of wait and watch.

Lockheed Aircraft Co., of Los Angeles, will be included in Detroit Aircraft Corporation, and three new companies are being formed to take over certain segregated properties. This will mean a total of nine companies represented in the Detroit Aircraft Company, which will have a capital of upwards of $20,000,000.

Detroit Aircraft Corporation has purchased stock interest of those who have control of Lockheed. Manufacture and assembly of Lockheed plane will be continued in present Los Angeles plant, although metal parts and stampings will probably be fabricated in Detroit. An offer will be made to all stockholders of Lockheed to exchange their stock for that of the new corporation, which is expected to give Detroit Aircraft control.

The three new companies being formed are The Aviation Tool Co., entirely owned by Detroit Aircraft; Marine Aircraft Co., which will take over construction of the six-place amphibian all-metal flying boat, going into immediate production, and Grosse I'le Airports, Inc., which will take over and continue development of the airport heretofore owned by the Aircraft Development Corporation.

Whatever the decision of the Hoover Oil Conference at Colorado Springs may be, there is unlikely to be any appreciable increase in the price of oils and products to the domestic consumer. Association of the Federal and State Governments in a co-operative plan to correct excessive production and effect conservation provides assurance against any steps to make users of gasoline and oil fuels pay the bill required to put the industry on a sounder basis.

An increase in both exports and imports of the United States in April are compared with the same month a year ago, it was announced. Exports totalled $425,871,850, compared with $363,928,118 for April, 1928, while imports were $410,677,161, against $345,314,265.

The decline in steel bookings for May was in line with predictions, and evidences no more than the normal slackening in the steel industry at this time of year. In view of the unusually heavy operations of the last few months it is not surprising that May's production of the corporation exceeded the volume of new business.

Erie Railroad May gross revenues are expected to be around $11,500,000, an increase of $700,000 over May, 1928, while net operating income is not likely to show much change from $2,227,043, reported a year ago. Surplus after fixed charges, before sinking fund requirements, will probably be around $1,250,000, against $1,405,458 last year. If this latter prediction materializes, it will be the first month since December, 1927, to show a decrease from same month in the previous year. Estimated May gross will be best for any similar month since 1926.

Cleveland—Legislation permitting the Big Four Railroad to go ahead with its track widening and grade crossing elimination programme was passed by the City Council after the railroad submitted a letter to the Council deciding to go ahead with the improvement. The railroad will claim damages totalling $1,529,300 if No. 2 River straightening plan should be put into effect.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Auction: Following three passes, East, with five or more Quick Tricks in four suits, bids a No Trump. South passing, West also passes, having no distributional or other reason for disturbing the No Trump bid. North passes, concluding the bidding.

Contract: East's holding in both Quick and Probable Tricks and their distribution warrants an opening two bid, preferably that of No Trump, as he hold all four suits stopped, of which three are doubly stopped. South passing, West responds with three Clubs, showing two Probable Tricks, which may be high-card or long-card tricks, in this instance a combination of the two. East then goes to three No Trumps.

THE PLAY

South opens the 6 of Spades. East winning leads the Queen of Clubs and covers it with Dummy's King to lead a Diamond for a finesse if the trick holds. North, holding up the Ace of Clubs, Declarer leads a Diamond from Dummy and successfully finesses the Jack. He then leads another Club to establish the suit or else, winning in Dummy, to take a second Diamond finesse. This time North cannot afford to hold off, because Declarer may have no more Clubs, in which case failure to take the trick would result in a present of it to the Declarer. On the other hand should Declarer hold a third Club his gain through the establishment of the Club suit could be partially offset by the establishment of Spades before Diamonds. Subsequent play showed that North adopted the only possible method to save game, and that its failure was due to Declarer's holding three Clubs.

North, upon winning with the Ace of Clubs, leads a Spade. Declarer, winning, puts Dummy in with a Club and makes Dummy's three Club tricks, discarding his two losing Hearts. Then taking a second Diamond finesse, he wins with the Queen, plays his Ace of Diamonds and Ace of Hearts and concedes the last two tricks, scoring four-odd at No Trump.

WHITFIELD—In loving memory of our dear dad, Mr. P. J. Whitfield, who passed away June 12, 1928.

Students In Mexico City Go On Strike

MEXICO CITY, June 11.—Two thousand striking students this afternoon took possession of the National University and seized several officials as hostages for the resignation of Rector Antonio Castro Leal, which they had demanded. The hostages offered no resistance and there was no violence.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

AUTHORIZATION OF MID-SUMMER WORK IS AMONG SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED

Appointment of Teachers to Fill Vacancies Will Also Be Considered

The last meeting of the City School Board before the 1928-29 school term ends will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. Among matters expected to be taken up at this meeting is the authorization of mid-summer work.

Mr. George Dean, municipal school inspector, will probably submit his report, giving a resume of the year's school work and reporting upon the vacancies that have been caused by teachers' resignations.

With the withdrawal of all first-year Saanich students in the high school at the beginning of the next term, the teaching staff will be reduced. Little difficulty is expected to be encountered, however, as the usual resignations at the end of the term will probably take care of the necessary depletion in the teaching faculty. Usually it is necessary to make new high school appointments every Summer, due to resignations, but this may not be necessary this year with the withdrawal of the Saanich students referred to.

Appointment of instructors in the Victoria College and the elementary schools will have to be considered, however.

The building committee will make its recommendations with regard to building and ground work to be carried out during the Summer months. The contract for supply of coal to the school terminates at the end of this month, so that it is expected that new tenders will be called.

APPOINTMENTS TO GOVERNMENT ARE ANNOUNCED

List Issued by Labor Premier Includes Ben Turner, Arthur Ponsonby and Miss Lawrence

EXPLANATION OF OMISSION MADE

LONDON, June 11.—The junior ministers of the MacDonald Government were announced today, the list including Ben Turner, miners' leader; Arthur Ponsonby and Miss Susan Lawrence.

Admiralty—Parliamentary and Financial Secretary, C. C. Ammon; Civil Lord, O. Hall.

Ministry of Agriculture—Parliamentary Secretary, Right Hon. C. Addison.

Air Ministry—Under-Secretary of State, F Montagu.

Board of Trade—Parliamentary Secretary, W R Smith.

Mines Department—Parliamentary Secretary, B F. Turner.

Minister of Dominions—Parliamentary Secretary, Arthur Ponsonby.

Colonial Office—Colonial Under-Secretary, W Lunn.

Board of Education—Parliamentary Secretary, Morgan Jones.

Foreign Office—Under Secretary, N. Dalton.

Ministry of Health—Parliamentary Secretary, Susan Lawrence.

Treasury—Lords Commissioners, J. Allen Parkinson, Charles Edwards and Alfred Barnes.

Financial Secretary—F.W. Pethick-Lawrence.

Home Office—Under Secretary, A. Short.

Ministry of Labor—Parliamentary Secretary, J. J. Lawson.

Ministry of Transport—Parliamentary Secretary, Lord Russell.

War Office—Under Secretary, Lord de la Warr.

Financial Secretary—E. Sinwell.

In connection with the appointment as Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, an explanation was attached to the official list that Major Clement Atlee's name did not appear because he had been assigned to the Indian Commission and the Prime Minister felt that until the commission's work was finished it would be improper to attach him to the Government.

TALE OF KILLING IS TOLD TO JURY

Fate of Winnipeg Sales Manager, Charged With Death of Woman, in Balance

WINNIPEG, June 11.—The fate of Cyril W Agnew, sales manager, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, whose body was found in his office on March 3, will be decided by a jury. A motion by defence counsel, H W. Whitla, K.C., that the case be withdrawn from the jury, was refused late this afternoon by Chief Justice MacDonald after the Crown had completed its presentation of evidence.

Agnew displayed no emotion when witnesses described the scene of the slaying yesterday afternoon.

In the court Dr W P. McCowan, who performed the post-mortem, detailed the numerous bruises on Mrs. McLean's body and expressed the opinion that they were caused before death.

Dr C. H. R Gordon, who was called to the office by Agnew, told of the prisoner's actions when he informed him the woman was dead.

"Dead, my God, that's terrible," Agnew is declared to have said. "That will be terrible for me. They might even lock me up."

That Mrs. Elizabeth McLean was a woman of violent temper was testified to by John Williams, cleaner in the building where the Agnew office is located.

Though Williams stated that neither Mrs. McLean nor Agnew appeared in any way intoxicated when they entered the office on the evening of March 2, he referred to a quarrel on a previous evening between the two.

He stated that he had heard no quarrel on the night of Mrs. McLean's death.

LEGION THANKS B.C. GOVERNMENT

Pro Patria Branch Meets—Scrolls for Public Schools to Be Delivered Soon

Appreciation of the action of the Provincial Government in recognizing the period of war service of members of the civil service as part of the fifteen years required before an extra week is added to the annual vacation, was voiced by the members of Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion in the following resolution, which was passed at the general meeting held last night in the clubrooms, 625 Courtney Street:

"That the Provincial Government be heartily thanked for recognizing war service in computing the period of service required before an additional week is added to the annual vacation of civil servants, an action which it is hoped all employers of labor will adopt when length of service carries with it special privileges."

The meeting was informed that the representation made to the Government in this connection was not only welcomed but thanks were extended for bringing the matter to their attention.

FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Comrade H. W Hart reported that the scrolls to commemorate the service rendered to the Empire in peaceful walks of life by men and women, which will be presented to all schools in the Province willing to accept one, were in course of preparation and delivery was hoped for in time to make the first presentation before commencement of the Summer holidays. He said that an effort would be made to make the first ceremony representative of the whole community and to secure for Victoria the credit of initiating a movement which will be province-wide, and no doubt extend throughout the Dominion.

A letter from Comrade Colonel W. W. Foster was read thanking all branches for the presentation made to him at the Chilliwack convention.

VISITS TO SICK

Comrade L. Whitlaw reported on visits to sick comrades. Comrade Moore is recovering from a recent operation. Comrade Barnard's condition is bad. Comrade O'Roarke is confined to bed but is improving. Comrade Cornyn is being moved to hospital. Comrade Farmer is practically bedridden, but is preserving a cheerful spirit. The deaths of Comrade Goodlet and Mitchell were announced. Smokes were sent to six auxiliary patients in Wilkinson Road Mental Home.

Announcement was made of a picnic which will be held on Saturday, July 27. A joint committee of the Women's Auxiliary and the branch have arrangements in hand.

The honor roll being filed, it was decided to have a large one prepared to accommodate the names of the rapidly increasing number of comrades who are "answering the last roll call."

CHURCH IN TOUCH WITH PEACE MOVE

Report Before General Assembly Shows Presbyterian Support of League

OTTAWA, June 11.—The Presbyterian Church in Canada is well represented on the executive charged with the promotion of universal peace through the Churches, and is in close touch with the League of Nations Society in Canada, declared a special report presented to the Presbyterian General Assembly last night by Rev. S. C. Parker.

The report also showed that cordial relations were continued during the past year between the Presbyterian Church and other reformed churches throughout the world. Efforts are being made to organize elders' and office bearers' unions throughout the Dominion, Mr Parker said. A special committee to deal with this question as appointed to continue correspondence with the Union in Scotland and to report on its deliberation to the next assembly.

Rev Dr S. Banks Nelson stated that elders and office holders' union in Munster, Ireland, "have been used to retard a sanctified use of growing knowledge." He warned the assembly to go slow as a similar situation might easily arise in Canada.

"What we do need," he said, "is a prayer meeting union, for elders and ministers."

Rev James Hyde, of Vancouver, took objection to the declaration of Dr Banks Nelson with respect to the Elders' and Office Holders' Union in Ireland. He said every elder he knew was a fundamentalist.

Has Arm Broken In Cranking Car

NANAIMO, June 11.—While attempting to crank a car yesterday, Mr. George Sanasky, Jr., Prideaux Street, sustained a broken arm. He was removed to the Nanaimo Hospital for treatment.

COUNCIL ADJOURNED

NANAIMO, June 11.—The City Council met last evening and, after the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mayor Busby suggested that owing to the death yesterday of Mr Clark Renney, a brother of Alderman Renney, the council adjourn. A motion to this effect carried.

CHINESE MAIDEN SEES NEW CHINA

Girl Graduate of American Universities Returning Home to Aid in Country's Evolution

The picture of a China discarding age-old traditions, customs and superstitions, and falling into step with the Western nations, is a difficult one for some people to conjure up. Yet the old China is slowly and surely being transformed, says Miss Ruth Ku-Zu, of Shanghai, who is here on her way back to her native land after four or five years spent in American universities, and who is pronounced in her optimism.

"All the signs today point to a new China. The spirit of criticism, or rebellion against the old order, is abroad in my country today; the young people's movement is under way, and we are on the eve of very great changes," she declared in the course of an animated chat with a Colonist reporter who called on her at the Strathcona Hotel, where she is staying.

Miss Ku-Zu belongs to the young people's movement of which she speaks. She is herself a representative of the more progressive element of China, but the fact that her father before her was sufficiently progressive and ambitious for his children to send her first to the university at Nankai, then to Ohio and California universities, is an indication of the fact that a generation senior to her's was already infected with the same ambition to step into line with the march of progress. This little Chinese lady has the physical characteristics of her race; she also preserves the more charming features of the Chinese lady's dress. But she is as completely emancipated in thought as the most emancipated of her Western sisters, and is returning to her own country overflowing with schemes and ambitions for teaching and writing along lines which will assist her countrymen, and countrywomen particularly, to throw off the shackles of tradition and superstition.

WOMEN IN CHINA

"Not that I think Chinese women in all things more handicapped than the women of this continent," she qualified. "For we have, perhaps, fewer traditions against women in professions, particularly the medical profession, than you here in North America have. We have had very little in the way of tradition to keep women out of any of the professions. Our backwardness has not been a matter of sex distinction and, to show how true this is, both men and women are behind the women's movement as they are both behind the whole modern progressive movement. There is no prejudice against our sex. Our men and women will evolve together," she says.

LARGE TASK

But even with both men and women putting all their energies to the task, China's conversion to the new way is a stupendous undertaking. It is a vast nation, and an old one. Much has to be done, much has to be undone, before China's mind and China's people are liberated.

Miss Ku-Zu rehearsed some of the evidences of China's awakening. The political revolution of twenty-five or thirty years ago was one of the first. Then began the intellectual revolution. Although this has not meant the complete overthrow of the Confucianist doctrines, it has meant the application of criticism to them, and the discarding of those which do not stand the test of modern social and ethical requirements. In other words, Confucianism, like Christianity, is being made up-to-date in its practical elements. One evidence of the intellectual revolution has been the movement for mass education and for the nationalizing of the language, so that the people of the various provinces will speak the same tongue and eventually come to understand each other better than they have in the past. This national language is a modified form of the old Mandarin.

Something of the social and industrial revolution which is taking place in China was also pictured, and in this connection Miss Ku-Zu spoke of the great difficulty which is being experienced in adjusting conditions which have lost their balance through the importation of manufactures. The peasants and farmer class are the greatest sufferers by this.

Miss Ku-Zu's fiancee, Mr. Ho-Ling-Chiac, another representative of young China, is assistant manager of the Pai-Pung Railway, and returned to China just recently after having spent two years in the United States studying the American railway methods for his Government. He, also, attended the University of Ohio as well as Harvard, and is imbued with Western ideals.

STAR OF ICELAND ENDS HER CAREER AS FISH CARRIER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The Alaska Packers' Association has sold the barkentine Star of Iceland to Amako Gomel Kaisha, a Japanese firm of shipbreakers.

The vessel is a steel craft of 2,181 tons gross and was built at Glasgow in 1895, having been launched as the British bark Willerooi.

Later she was purchased by Hawaiian Islands interests and put under the Hawaiian flag, still retaining her original name, but when acquired by the Alaska Packers' Association she was christened Star of Iceland, having automatically come under United States registry when the Hawaiian Islands became American territory, some forty years ago.

The Princess Patricia will shortly be released from overhaul, and will be ready for the excursion business, in which the vessel will again be employed this Summer.

SURPLUS CRAFT TO BE SCRAPPED

No Offers Received for 356 United States Shipping Board Vessels

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Destruction of the United States Shipping Board by scrap approximately 356 vessels has met with approval on all sides.

In making the announcement that the board would scrap the ships, Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the shipping board, said the tonnage would have been offered for scrap earlier but for the reason that the board wanted to give anyone interested ample opportunity to buy.

The 356 ships are maintained at an enormous cost, it being estimated that each vessel costs the board about $5,000 a year, or $1,750,000 for the entire fleet. This tonnage, it is said, is obsolete, and there will probably never be any demand for it.

The times used are Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish between high and low water. Where heights differ from the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during the intervals between successive times.

The height is to feet and tenths of a foot above the level of the average low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock add 30 feet to the depth of high water as above stated.

SOCIAL UNION

Entertained by Rev. T. and Mrs. Ogata, of the Japanese Mission, Quadra Street, the United Church Social Union closed the season's monthly gatherings by meeting yesterday afternoon at the Japanese garden at the Gorge. Dr. Osterhaut, of Vancouver, superintendent of the Oriental work of the United Church, gave an address, and Miss Audrey Nixon recited several selections. A resolution of appreciation of the work of Rev. J. P. and Mrs. Westbrook, who passed, to which Mr. Westman made a feeling reply, Mrs. Elliot, of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, and Mrs. Second, of Sackville, New Brunswick, were welcomed as visitors and Rev. Bruce Gray, of the First Church, was introduced as a member of the union.

Letters wishing them bon voyage were directed to be sent to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson, and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Armitage on their approaching trip to the old land. The invitation of Rev. W. A. Cup, of Oak Bay Church, was accepted for the first meeting in the Autumn, which will be held on the second Tuesday in October. Rev. T. Nixon was chairman for the day.

Lecture Canceled

Mr. Maurice Samuels, Hebrew author and lecturer, cancelled his engagement to speak here last evening following receipt of a telegram from his family summoning him back to Eastern Canada owing to illness. The cancellation of the engagement was a big disappointment to Rabbi Jack Levy, of the local Jewish Synagogue, under the auspices of which the lecturer was coming here, but it is understood that Mr. Samuels will probably rearrange his schedule to permit him to come here at a later date.
